Latest Estimate In Ovada Dam Disaster Is Placed At 250 Dead; Many Injured

Raging Torrent Swept Over Forty Square Miles, Carrying Victims and Houses Before It; Property Damage Is Reported to be $24,000,000.

INVESTIGATION IS ORDERED

Associated Press
Turin, Italy, Aug. 14. — Provincial officials stated today about 250 persons were killed by floods which followed the bursting of a hydro-electric plant dam at Ovada yesterday.

This estimate followed an original report by rescue agencies that 1,000 were killed and a revised estimate of only 100 dead. Authorities said several hundred persons were suffering from injuries, shock and exposure as a result of the sudden torrent which covered forty square miles.

Rescue squads, consisting mostly of Fascist troops, found the Orba River Valley in Northern Italy, scene of the flood, a sea of mud, the torrents having receded.

Rushing waters swept over about forty square miles of the countryside with a property damage estimated at $20,000,000. The mud in many cases was several feet deep, rendering the exact count of the dead extremely difficult. Overturned houses were partly buried in the mud. Furniture floated on the viscous surface. Rescuers struggled knee and hip deep in mud striving to penetrate to the houses to search for victims, said to be mostly women and children.

Word reached here the village of Rossiglione was flooded and razed by the overflowing of three streams, tributaries of the Stura. An official investigation into the collapse of the dam was ordered.

Arrests of Rod-riding Transients Creates Problem in Province
Attorney-General Gordon Sloan will inspect at first hand the jail situation in the B.C. interior, where lockups are overcrowded due to scores of transients being arrested by R.C.M.P. for alleged rod-riding in the prairie harvest fields.

The attorney-general some time ago protested to Ottawa against the stopping of the normal summer transient flow eastward in this fashion. In the course of an inspection tour of police offices throughout the southern interior, Mr. Sloan will look into the situation. The attorney-general will leave tomorrow on his trip which will take him to Kamloops, then through the southern interior to the Alberta border and back by way of Golden and Sicamous. He will be accompanied by Col. J. H. McMullin, superintendent of B.C. police.

EXCHANGE OF VIEWS OPENED

Laval and Eden Play First Cards in Paris Negotiations
Associated Press
Paris, Aug. 14. — Premier Laval of France and Anthony Eden, British minister for League of Nations Affairs, played their first cards today in their negotiations to reach a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Six diplomats began "an exchange of views" which French officials said may, in a few weeks, decide whether there shall be continued peace or a war that may further disturb the whole troubled European situation. Eden and Laval talked for an hour. The former had with him Sir Robert G. Vansittart, permanent Foreign Under-Secretary of Great Britain, and Sir George Russell Clark, ambassador to France. Premier Laval, who mainly listened to what Eden had to say, had with him Paul Bargeton, director of political affairs, and Charles Rochat, chief of the Premier's office.

After the conference, Laval stated: "We had a preliminary talk with Mr. Eden regarding the Italo-Ethiopian difference. We will have a meeting Friday with Mr. Eden and Baron Pompeo Aloisi of Italy. Tomorrow, I have the opportunity to meet with the Italian delegate." The Premier intends to study Eden's ideas with French experts. He will do likewise with what he learns tomorrow from Baron Aloisi, and then will open the real three-power conference Friday.

Until the books are checked the move this year will not be announced. Annually the trend in assessment gives rise to much speculation as to the valuations placed on lots and buildings.

Ethiopia Protests Embargo On Arms Needed In Defence

Strong Appeal Is Lodged With the League Council, Charging Italy Preparing to Massacre a Peaceful People
Canadian Press
Geneva, Aug. 14. — Charging Italy is preparing to massacre a peaceful people, Ethiopia today protested to the League of Nations that she is unable to purchase arms abroad to defend her soil.

Ethiopia besought the League's assistance to remove "what she calls the unjust effect of an arms embargo imposed on her by many nations." The protest was received from the Ethiopian minister to Paris, Hawarte, who, acting upon instructions from his government, asked the League secretary-general to lay the following appeal before the members of the League Council: "Notwithstanding the resumption of arbitration procedure in conformity with the council's decision on August 3, the Italian government is continuing to send troops and ammunition into Eastern Africa. It is ceaselessly manufacturing arms and implements of war with the solemnly avowed intention of using them against the Ethiopian empire."

"There is no manufacture in Ethiopia, either public or private, of (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

Depression Prolonged By Bennett Policies

Declares Liberal Leader in Address at Woodstock, Ont., Yesterday; King in Support of Baldwin's Trade Policy
Canadian Press
Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 14. — Industrial and trade depression has been prolonged by the policies of the Bennett government and is being further prolonged by delay in bringing on a general election, according to H. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in his address at Woodstock, in support of A. S. Rennie, M.P., seeking re-election in Oxford County.

Election periods always brought uncertainty even in normal times, said Mr. King. No business man would make commitments for the future until he knew the outcome of the election. This uncertainty was being prolonged by Mr. Bennett, and was particularly injurious to trade in time of depression. Further, he argued, the postponing of the election until late September or October would handicap a new government from the start. It would have no time to put its policies in effect so their beneficial results could be felt before winter set in. The depression would have been over long ago, Mr. King also contended, had Premier Bennett adopted the trade policy outlined by H. Hon. Stanley Baldwin at the Ottawa Imperial Conference of 1932. Mr. Baldwin was the leader of the British delegation and is now Prime Minister. (Turn to Page 2, Col. 5)

They were Hon. L. F. D. Tilley, who becomes county court judge for King's County and local judge in Admiralty; Hon. W. H. Harrison, named to the New Brunswick Court of Appeal, and J. H. A. Fairweather, made a judge of the Court of King's Bench.

REFORM, BUT NOT INFLATION

W. R. Howson, Leader of Liberals in Alberta, Denies Duggan Statement
Calgary, Aug. 14. — Denial that the Liberal monetary reform policy would lead to colossal inflation was made here today by W. R. Howson, Alberta Liberal leader.

The denial was in answer to a statement of D. M. Duggan, provincial Conservative leader, who had characterized the Liberal policy as a "colossal inflation" plan. "Such a statement," said Mr. Howson, "indicates that Mr. Duggan is against monetary reform. If Canada cannot institute a system of monetary reform through the Central Bank then there can be no monetary reform."

GALE BLOWS AT 52 MILES

Wind Reached Maximum at 2 o'clock Yesterday Afternoon
A fifty-mile-per-hour gale lashed Victoria yesterday afternoon and sent the sea smashing against the Dallas Road wall. Aside from whipping forest fires on the island to renewed frenzy, however, it appeared to have done little damage to boats or property.

At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon the wind reached a maximum of fifty-two miles per hour, according to F. Napier Denison, director of the Dominion Meteorological Observatory on Gonzales Hill. It blew steadily until 6 o'clock, when the velocity was forty-five miles per hour, and then quieted down during the night. This morning the wind picked up and was blowing at thirty-four miles per hour at noon. It had veered slightly from a westerly to a south-westerly direction. The gale was caused by the heat in the interior, where temperatures have been well over the ninety mark, Mr. Denison says. It was accentuated in Victoria by the narrow Straits through which it had to pass. In the city the wind probably did not reach such a high velocity as fifty-two miles per hour as the meteorologist points out that the instruments on Gonzales Hill are 278 feet above sea-level.

TENDERS ACCEPTED FOR TREASURY BILLS

Ottawa, Aug. 14. — On behalf of the Minister of Finance, it was announced at noon today that tenders had been accepted for the full amount of $20,000,000 Dominion of Canada treasury bills, due November 15. Voters lists for the Victoria riding have arrived from Ottawa in preparation for the federal election.

There are 105 separate lists, one list for each of the 105 divisions into which the riding has been divided. Altogether there are more than 29,000 names on the lists. The lists have been turned over to the government printers at Ottawa, from the registration carried out by official enumerators a few months ago. Copies of the lists for distribution outside of the returning officers' offices and polling stations are not being carried by the returning officer. Party organizations or others wanting lists will have to get them from the government printers at Ottawa. Sidney Child, returning officer for Victoria, was awaiting official word from Ottawa on the election date.

McGeer Suggests Review by Minister of Justice

Investigation by the Minister of Justice of circumstances surrounding the trial of John Cameron, former Vancouver police chief, and others, on conspiracy charges of which they were acquitted, has been suggested by Mayor G. G. McGeer, K.C., to Attorney-General Sloan, it became known today. The Attorney-General has taken the position that this is a matter outside the provincial government's jurisdiction and Mayor McGeer's representations should go to the Minister of Justice. Mayor McGeer made his request public in Vancouver this week, declaring the crown's case against Cameron had been weakened by the selection of a Victoria judge—Judge J. C. McIntosh—to hear the case. "No judge conversant with the situation in Vancouver would have accepted Cameron's evidence," the Vancouver mayor declared. "In the first place, the case should have gone before a jury. Instead, Judge McIntosh was brought into the (Turn to Page 2, Col. 7)

Canadian Cars Show Increase

More Tourists From Other Provinces This Year, Provincial Records Indicate
Swelling the increase in the influx of tourists cars to British Columbia this year from the United States as shown in customs figures is a marked increase in the number of auto tourists coming from other parts of Canada.

Provincial motor license branch records, showing the trend, revealed today that up to the end of July 2,653 non-resident touring permits had been issued to cars from other provinces. Covering a seven-month period this was an increase of 150 over the total for the whole of last year. The biggest influx has been from Alberta, with 1,942 cars from that province checked in to date against 1,448 during all of 1934. From Saskatchewan there were 469, from Manitoba 125, from New Brunswick three, from Nova Scotia four, from Ontario 80 and Quebec 14.

Movement of Arms Shows Major Gains

International Demand for Munitions Shows Marked Increase This Year, Statistics Prove; Record High in Cotton Linters
Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 14. — World-wide gains in the international movement of arms, munitions and the raw materials of war were disclosed today in a survey of the statistics of the United States and other nations.

While the destination of the products is shown in some cases, mostly the figures fail to disclose the consumer, definitely since the materials are often re-exported. While the United States has been exporting less raw cotton the last two years, its exports of cotton linters are at a record high. Linters are very short cotton fibres. Though they are used for rayon, they are also well adapted for making explosives. France, Germany, the United Kingdom, Japan, and Italy all increased imports of linters from the United States. Similarly this nation's exports of acetone and steel, useful for many war purposes, are at an all-time record high, Japan and Italy being major customers.

him in the plane a Chinese doctor, an American doctor, and several packages of medical supplies. . . .
"The plane landed on flooded fields outside the city walls. A few stray sampans were the only signs of life on the calm waters."
The Chinese doctor finally persuaded one sampan to pole up to the plane, and lower a package of medicine into the boat. The starving people in the other boats decided the package contained food; other sampans closed in, their occupants begging pitifully for something to eat.
Desperately the three in the plane tried to keep away the sampans, which threatened to puncture the pontoons. The crowd increased, and grew sullen. Col. Lindbergh drew his revolver, but hesitated to use it.
"Suddenly a man stood up and put his foot on the left pontoon," continues Mrs. Lindbergh. "As though at a signal, the rest surged forward. . . . They had begun to board."
"My husband whipped the gun from the left side to the right quickly, shooting straight up in the air as he turned. Each side thought someone had been shot on the other. . . . Slowly they edged back."
"The pull of a trigger, the press of a switch," concludes Mrs. Lindbergh, "without these, the magicians flying back to Nanking would have been simply three people in a starved, dying and devastated land."

Election to Be Held On October 14

Premier Bennett and other members of the cabinet attended the ceremony.
Dissolution of parliament and the date of the general election was expected to be announced at the conclusion of the cabinet meeting.
National organizer of the Conservative Party in the present general election campaign, J. E. Lawson has become prominent throughout Canada and is known as a vigorous proponent of Conservative policies, a hard worker and a good parliamentary debater. He is a student of politics and in 1933 organized the Conservative summer school at Pickering College, Newmarket, Ont.
His work in connection with that, coupled with the capacity he had shown in the House of Commons as chairman of the special committee on the civil service, singled him out as the logical successor to Major-General A. D. McRae who, in 1930, had organized the Conservative election campaign.
Mr. Lawson entered politics in 1928

FORMER FIRST LORD PASSES

Viscount Bridgeman, Leigh, Naval Security Advocate, Dies

Canadian Press Cable
London, Aug. 14.—Viscount Bridgeman of Leigh, First Lord of the Admiralty from 1924 to 1929 and staunch advocate of Imperial naval security, died today at the age of seventy-one.
As W. C. Bridgeman before his elevation to the peerage, he was First Lord of the Admiralty during the second Baldwin government, and was Britain's chief delegate to the abortive naval conference at Geneva in 1927. He had quit office with the defeat of the Conservatives in 1929, before the London naval conference.
He sat in the House of Commons continuously from 1905 to 1929, holding many important posts during that period. He was elected to the peerage in the latter year. Since 1933 he had been chairman of the British Broadcasting Corporation.
He was a lord commissioner of the treasury in 1915-16, assistant director of the war trade department during the first world war, and minister of labor, before becoming secretary of mines in 1920. In the first Baldwin government, 1922, he became home secretary, transferring to the admiralty after the 1924 general elections.
He was a former president of the M.C.C. ruling board of cricket. He is survived by three sons.

Knox Outlines Party Platform

Draws Upon Six Planks of the 1932 Democratic Programme

Hampton Beach, N.H., Aug. 14.—Drawing upon the 1932 Democratic platform for six planks, Col. Frank Knox, possible Republican presidential candidate in 1936, today outlined a party platform in which he declared represented "the utter repudiation by Roosevelt and his New Deal administration of sacred promises."
Presenting the planks in answer to President Roosevelt's "reiterated demand for a substitute programme," the Chicago and Manchester, N.H., newspaper published recommended, for adoption by his party, a number of planks "taken, literally, from the Democratic platform of 1932."
"Opposition to principles upon which all those opposed to the radicalism of President Roosevelt can support the Republican party," he declared.
Col. Knox, in an address before the annual outing of the Rockingham County Republicans Club, suggested that the following planks be included in the next Republican platform:
"1.—An immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditure."
"2.—Maintenance of the national credit by a federal budget annually balanced."
"3.—Sound currency to be preserved at all hazards."
"4.—Unemployment and old age insurance under state laws."
"5.—Strict and impartial enforcement of the anti-trust laws to prevent monopoly and unfair trade practices."
"6.—Opposition to the unsound policy of restricting agricultural production."

FIRE AT LAKE CONTROLLED

Flames, as well as an old oil shed in the vicinity.
Fire fighters were organized under P. Sweetman, W. Waldron, W. Mudge and W. B. Brocks, but their efforts failed to save the store. They were assisted by crews from Duncan, Cobble Hill and the surrounding neighborhood, and a water pumper sent up by the E. and N. Railway Company. Between 150 and 200 men were fighting during the peak of the fire.
HOME DEMOLISHED
The destruction of the Maitland home on the estate of the late Chief Justice Fidler followed shortly after the flames had devoured the other buildings.
At different stages the homes of M. A. Furlong and G. Stillwell were threatened. The Furlong estate was saved by the fact that it was surrounded by large clearings and the flames could not reach the buildings. Members of the family and helpers poured water on the roof of the Stillwell home to save it.
The flames traveled along the railway-track for the most part and then broke into an easterly trail through the timber. It was felt at the lake today that the forest fire might have assumed dangerous proportions had it not been for the drop in the wind overnight and this morning.
FIGHTER HURT
Hugh E. Stewart, one of the volunteer fighters, suffered burns about the eyes during the fight and was brought to St. Joseph's Hospital here. He is being attended by Dr. W. E. Scott-Moncrieff.
Chief damage done by the flames was done at the store, where stock valued at about $5,000 was completely destroyed.

Newspaper Says 200 Arrested For Exposing Manly Chest and "Offend. Morals"

Associated Press
Havana, Aug. 14.—Police began a drive on the "slime front" sport shirt today.
The newspaper El Pecho said 200 men were arrested and fined for an "offense against morals" because they wore the shirts, exposing too much manly chest. Orders were issued for the arrest of anyone wearing such a shirt and no coat in a public place.
Last March military orders were issued against men appearing in public minus hats.

BOMBS HURLED AT THEATRES

Associated Press
New York, Aug. 14.—A bomb shattered the ticket booth of the Circle Theatre on Broadway early yesterday. The missile, apparently of high explosive, was thrown from an automobile which continued down Broadway to Columbus Circle where another bomb, tossed in the general direction of the Park Theatre, missed its mark and broke the window of a photographer's shop.
Both theatres have been picketed by the Moving Picture Operators' Union. The theatre-employers members of the Allied Operators' Union, a rival organization.

Sir Alexander was appointed Governor of New South Wales earlier this year. The Governor-General's term will expire next year.

British Exporters Hint at Move Over Delayed Coal Payments

By HAROLD P. BRAMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer
London, Aug. 14.—British exporters hinted today at a move to refuse further credits to Italy because of delayed payments, believed caused by the expense of military preparations.
Simultaneously The News-Chronicle urged Great Britain to liberalize control of some of her colonies as a means of averting a war between Italy and Ethiopia.

arms or munitions of war. The Ethiopian government to-day finds it absolutely impossible to obtain means of defence outside its own frontier. Wherever it attempts to obtain them it meets with prohibitions of export and embargoes.
The appeal then puts a series of questions to the League.
"Is it real neutrality? Is it just? Will the council remain unmoved in the face of this situation which is growing steadily worse? Will it allow this unequal combat to continue between two members of the League of Nations, one of which is all powerful and in a position to employ, and declares it is employing, all its resources in preparing for aggression, while the other, weak and mindful of its international undertaking, is deprived of its territory and its very existence, both of which are threatened?"
LEAGUE OVERBOARD
London, Aug. 14 (Canadian Press from Havre).—The British government has "thrown the League of Nations overboard," former Premier David Lloyd-George charged today, blaming it for the present passive attitude of the League of Nations in the Italo-Ethiopian crisis.
Opening a campaign against the national government in a speech before the National Trade Union Club, the former premier was caustic in his criticism of the government's policies, both domestic and foreign.
Charging the powers with destroying the League, Mr. Lloyd-George continued:
"The League is brought to a dead end. They have accepted that the moment they accepted that they wiped the League out! What are they discussing? Are they discussing how they are to prevent Mussolini destroying the independence of a friendly power which is a member of the League?"
"Not at all. They are just discussing what measure of economic strategic and political control can be given to Italy without war. That is what four years of national government has meant to the League of Nations."

Depression Prolonged By Bennett Policies

He had proposed the promotion of empire trade by lowering tariffs within the empire rather than by raising them against the rest of the world. The opposite course was followed and Mr. Bennett had missed a great opportunity.
READY TO CO-OPERATE
Another Imperial Conference would come next year, Mr. King said, if a Liberal government were in office it would fall in with the British view of empire trade as outlined by Mr. Baldwin. Mr. King said he would go to Mr. Baldwin, remind him of his statements and say that Canada was now ready to accept his proposals.
The home market, said Mr. King, was not necessarily a place where goods were sold, but a place where there was purchasing power and pure chasing power was made by money coming into the country for goods which were sent out. By putting up tariff and restricting external trade the Conservative Government had prevented money from coming into Canada, and so had injured the home market as well as the foreign markets.
A country could not trade all one way. There had to be exchange. Ships which carried goods out of Canada had to carry goods into Canada on the return trip.
The high tariff policy had injured Canada, and the first industry affected was shipping. Ships were tied up in harbors because there were no goods being carried. The railways were

BLOCKADE IN AEGEAN SEA

Italy Places Dodecanese Islands Under Martial Law, Press Dispatches State

Associated Press
London, Aug. 14.—A Reuters News Agency dispatch from Athens to-day says the Italian-occupied Dodecanese Islands in the Aegean Sea have been placed under martial law with a severe blockade in force. The island of Lero has been converted into a fortress.
Visitors are not allowed to disembark at Leros, but are forced to go to Rhodes, where all are subjected to a close scrutiny. Private houses on the islands have been requisitioned to care for the sick and wounded. All motor vessels also have been requisitioned.

The thirteen islands of the Dodecanese are in the Aegean Sea, off the coast of Asia Minor. The islands are Rhodes, Cos, Kalymnos, Leros, Mytilene, Tenedos, Syme, Chalki, Astypalaia, Karpathos, Kasos, Patmos and Lipsos.
Formerly the possession of Turkey, the islands were occupied by Italy during its war with Turkey in 1908. It evacuated them, by terms of the first Treaty of Lausanne in 1912. The secret Treaty of London of 1915, which secured Italy's entrance into the World War, gave Italy sovereignty over the islands.
This sovereignty was repeatedly disputed until, in 1920, the Treaty of Sevres gave Italy full control.

felt the pinch. Wholesale and retail trade were affected. All this threw men out of work. The unemployment problem to-day was due to the restriction of trade.
"It's all nonsense to say that our markets were lost because of the tariffs of other countries," said Mr. King.
JAPAN MARKET
Only within the last few weeks another market had been lost because the government proposed to fight other countries instead of trying to promote goodwill. That market was in Japan, and Canadian lumbermen, wheat growers and flour mills were suffering as a result.
In 1930 Mr. King said, the Liberal Government in the Dunning budget had sought a larger entry into the British market. Soon after Mr. Bennett destroyed that one fort by renegeing the Canadian tariff.
Mr. King said the people should not be misled in the election by debates on any particular law, such as the Marketing Act or by local issues. They had to take a political party all in or all out at all.
They had to take all the acts and policies of the Bennett government or none of them. They had to take its autocracy and its tendency to dictatorship. Similarly they had to take the Liberals all together, and they could rely upon it a Liberal government would do nothing to injure the people as a whole or any section.

rescuers. One young mechanic plunged into the swirling current time after time, and was able to drag seven helpless persons to high ground before he collapsed from exhaustion.
A father retrieved a floating wooden crib in which his infant was plunging down the flood.
The stormy weather which burst the dam resulted in great property damage in the vicinity of Genoa. Many streams overflowed their banks there and inundated surrounding villages.
The suburban sections along the mouth of streams which flow past Genoa to the sea, were flooded. Huge waves lashed the waterfront, wrecking and damaging small shipping.
Lightning struck an electric passenger train running between Genoa and Milan, and destroyed one of the locomotive's motors. After a brief panic among the passengers, the train continued.
Rescue workers said it was likely that some of the bodies covered by the debris never would be recovered. It was believed that women and children made up the greater part of the dead list. Their homes were smashed in on them as they rested from the mid-day heat.
The catastrophe struck with tragic suddenness. There was a terrific roar and the shattered dam loosed the raging torrents on the valley.
Houses and factories collapsed like match boxes under the impact of the swiftly moving streams. Three railroad bridges and a half dozen highway bridges were swept down before the onrushing waters.
Rescue workers said many persons were drowned almost without warning in the town of Ovada. Not a head of livestock was believed to have escaped in all the valley.

Berlin, Aug. 14.—The Nazis' determined drive against Jews, which began a month ago with anti-Semitic disturbances in Berlin's white way, extended today to all parts of the Reich and engaged even the school children.
The results will be reviewed tomorrow night by Julius Streicher, most unyielding of the Jew-baiters, before a crowd which has bought every seat in the Sportpalast, Berlin's largest assembly hall.
Reports of anti-Jewish manifestations by children came from Dortmund. They sneak up on persons emerging from shops owned by Jews, the reports said, and pin to them cards reading:

RUST DAMAGE
WILL BE HEAVY

Southeast Section of Saskatchewan Seriously Hit, Says Minister

Canadian Press
Regina, Aug. 14.—"Over a whole section of Saskatchewan, which embraces at least three and a half million of seeded acres, the damage to the wheat crop from rust alone will be terrific," said Hon. J. G. Taggart, minister of agriculture, here yesterday.

Mr. Taggart said he referred to the entire southeastern portion of the province, and declared the crop picture, even on Regina plains, had changed greatly for the worse in the last week. "Crops in that area will run all the way from a total failure to a fair commercial crop," he said. "In the southeast there was a prospect, three weeks ago, the crop would average at least twenty bushels to the acre, probably more. I venture to say the production will be cut by 50,000,000 bushels."

Mr. Taggart refused to make even an estimate on what the total production for the province would be, stating it could only be a guess at best, and there would be nothing gained in making one. But he was quite convinced the total would be less than 180,000,000 bushels.

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Some southern districts of Manitoba, where the grain harvest is now general, report a total failure of bread wheat and serious lowering of grades of coarse grains, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

The hot and dry weather has been favorable for Alberta crops, particularly the good, but late, stands in the north and west. Cutting has started in the south, and combining will soon be general.

"Given two to three weeks of fine, warm weather, Alberta will have good crops, but frost in the same period would cause serious losses," the report says.

CANNERY LOSS
FIXED AT $50,000Canadian Press
Fitzroy, B.C., Aug. 14.—More than $50,000 was the estimate placed to-day upon the loss caused by fire which destroyed two buildings of the Ocean Cannery, salmon cannery at Oceanic on the Skeena River, Monday night.

The $50,000 covers the buildings but not the contents, including an amount of canned salmon. The origin of the fire has not been determined. Robert Garner, forty-two, suffering from a heart ailment, dropped dead during the fire.

The cannery was one of the best known on the Skeena River.

Garth Jones Still Held by Chinese Raiders in North China

Canadian Press from Hava
Peking, Aug. 14.—The bandit gang of kidnapers who are holding Garth Jones, Far Eastern news correspondent of The Manchester Guardian and former secretary to Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, for $100,000 ransom was reported yesterday to have split into two groups. One is proceeding toward Pochang and the other to the east of Jehol.

Authorities of Chahar announced that they had been unable to establish contact with the kidnapers and had no idea what had become of Jones.

Ransom of $40,000 was said to have been paid for Jones's release last week, but a second group of bandits took him from the original kidnapers.

Alberta has two ballot systems

Canadian Press
Calgary, Aug. 14.—Two systems of balloting will be used in the Alberta general election August 22. In rural constituencies voting will be under the single transferable ballot, while in the urban ridings proportional representation will be followed.

Voters in both must indicate their choice by the use of figures. They may vote a "plumper" if they desire—marking only a first choice with the figure "1." It is not necessary for them to express a second or third choice.

The marking of a "cross" the familiar "X" automatically disqualifies the ballot.

ABERHART ON SOCIAL CREDIT

Application Will Depend on Result at Polls, Leader Says

Canadian Press
Edmonton, Aug. 13.—How social credit will be applied in Alberta, if and when it wins at the polls, will depend upon information to be secured after the elections, according to William Aberhart, its provincial leader, who is this week taking part in the campaign in Edmonton. Mr. Aberhart spoke Tuesday at two meetings.

"We will make a plan for Alberta," said Mr. Aberhart, "as soon as we can get the facts, and it can't be done until then. We want a government favorable to social credit before we can make a plan. I am afraid things are in a bad state, and there will be a lot of housecleaning to be done before we can put social credit into effect. We must get the facts first."

"You don't have to know all about social credit before you vote for it," he said. "You don't have to understand electricity to make use of it, for you know that experts have put the system in, and all you have to do is to push the button and you get light. So all you have to do about it, and we'll get experts to put the system in."

There is only one thing to do," reiterated Mr. Aberhart. "Vote social credit, and if you are not satisfied with it, you can put the recall into operation."

Bill Replacing One Thrown Out by Supreme Court Passes Senate

Associated Press
Washington, Aug. 14.—A bill setting up a new alcohol control administration to replace the one thrown out by the Supreme Court in the Schechter NLR decision, was passed yesterday by the United States Senate.

The bill eliminated the provision carried in the bill as it passed the House of Representatives permitting sale of distilled liquor in barrels instead of only in bottles, as provided under present treasury regulations.

New Orleans Waiter Honored by France

Associated Press
New Orleans, Aug. 14.—France has reached across the Atlantic to bestow the rank of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor on Albert Feugas, forty-seven-year-old waiter in a French quarter restaurant, for his services during the World War.

Feugas, who was wounded five times and already has been awarded the Croix de Guerre with seven palms, and numerous other medals, was notified of the new honor by Andre L. de Laboulaye, France's ambassador to the United States.

Crown Prince Alexander, who later became King of Yugoslavia and was shot down by an assassin in October, 1934, was visiting in the front line trench when Feugas saved his life in 1916. In that muddy trench, where everything showing above the top was instantly pierced by a bullet, the Crown Prince calmly started to climb up. Feugas made a football tackle and dragged Alexander down into the mud.

MOB RELEASES CONVICTED MEN

Port Aux Basques, Nfld., Aug. 14.—A clash between Port Aux Basques laborers and outsiders reached a climax yesterday when a mob released four local men who had been convicted of assault.

The word "guilty" was signal for the mob to storm the court house. Before the police could remove the prisoners to jail to start their sentences the sympathizers set the four free.

They had been charged following a bloody encounter between the local mob and laborers brought in from outside points to unload paper at the Port Aux Basques storage sheds.

St. John's, Nfld., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—A detachment of police left the capital by to-night's train for Port Aux Basques, where rioting laborers were reported to have freed four men convicted in the magistrate's court on charges of assault.

It is provided, among other things, that recommendations for salary increases shall be submitted by the branch heads to the deputy minister, who must satisfy himself that they are warranted and so report to the auditor-general, the controller of the treasury and the civil service commission.

At the same time, when an increase is held back the commission must be advised. Only members of the permanent staff are to be eligible for increases.

Liberal Candidate Shows How Bennett Policies Hit Province's Trade

Speaking to Ward Two Liberals yesterday evening, C. J. McDowell, Liberal candidate in Victoria federal riding, explained why British Columbia should be intensely interested in securing a revision in Canada's tariff and trade policies, as promised by the Liberal party.

He showed how the Bennett government's action had wiped out this province's lumber and paper trade with Japan amounting to many millions of dollars a year and affecting the jobs of thousands of men.

It so happened, he said, that B.C. held the major share of the Canadian market in Japan. Then the Ottawa authorities had pursued a provocative method which resulted in Japan imposing a prohibitive tariff against this country. On lumber alone the loss was close to 7,000,000 feet per month.

Here, he said, was a concrete instance on which the Liberal party's trade policies of removing restrictions could be brought into play.

The Liberal belief, he said, was that trade barriers could be torn down, production of goods increased, more goods moved to world markets, the price of manufactured goods brought down and trade increased in both directions.

Such policies must result in increased employment.

END OF REPRESSION
After five years of repression and restriction Canada was just marking time now until a Liberal government could be returned.

From all points of view, it would be best for Victoria to have a Liberal representative in the next House of Commons, he argued. A Conservative was out of the question since that meant endorsement of the restrictive policies carried out at Ottawa during the last five years. A C.C.F. would be useless since that party could not, nor did it hope to, put its theories into effect for years to come. The Reconstructionists were not in the picture. This left the Liberal, supporting the forward policies enunciated by Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, as the logical, and, as a matter of fact, the only choice.

He strongly emphasized that Mr. King, in his recent speeches had spoken for the party as a whole, not just for himself. He had outlined the principles laid down at the 1930 Liberal convention and re-endorsed in 1933.

Hon. H. H. Stevens Says Reconstruction Party Would Increase Note Issue

Canadian Press
Calgary, Aug. 14.—Canada's gold reserves and gold resources will be taken full advantage of to increase note issue of the Dominion if the Reconstruction Party gains power. Hon. H. H. Stevens, leader of the new party, placed himself definitely on record in this regard when he spoke here last night.

"Britain's policy of cheap money offers a striking example for Canada," the Reconstruction Party leader told a large audience. He asserted the United Kingdom government had functioned in such a way that a virtual revolution in the financial and economic world of that country had taken place. Through operation of the income tax and other steps, a redistribution of wealth had been made possible.

To-day Mr. Stevens was on his way by motor to Edmonton for another night meeting. On the way he planned to stop briefly at Red Deer and Wetaskiwin. The Edmonton meeting will be his last in Alberta.

Horse Disease
Is SpreadingCanadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—Fresh reports to-day told of the spread of Encephalomyelitis, current threat to prairie horses, into new territory in Saskatchewan and Manitoba as government officials considered new steps to combat the plague.

Increasing violence of the outbreak that has taken toll of more than 200 horses in the two provinces led authorities to discuss chartering of an airplane to carry in emergency serum supplies. Orders piled up on agents who could not fill the demand. Serum treatment enough for 400 horses arrived Tuesday, but disappeared almost as soon as the shipment was opened. Orders from outside points where fresh outbreaks of the epidemic were reported went unfilled.

The extent of the outbreak was undetermined in some areas, but the pessimistic outlook spurred officials to fresh activity. Scattered points in Saskatchewan reported seventy-five deaths more than 100 were tabulated in Manitoba.

Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—A thoroughbred race horse fell victim yesterday to Encephalomyelitis.

Sakura, owned by Dr. L. R. Knifong of Texas, stabled at the Polo Park race course here, fell to the ground in convulsions and was immediately destroyed.

More than 300 horses are quartered in the Polo Park stables, and when it was pointed out the animals had been exposed to the disease, owners took steps to administer a preventive serum.

FAIL TO GET THE JOKE

THE LATEST "TEMPEST IN A TEA-POT" to disturb international goodwill is being brewed over a cartoon in a "smart" American magazine. It is a good illustration of how a little thing, unimportant in itself, may sometimes weigh heavily in the delicate relations on which depend the friendship of peoples.

The page of cartoons was based on an old wizzer, which every high school and college editor has used at one time or another—pictures of the impossible or unlikely, used to emphasize the actual. This page, entitled, "Five highly unlikely historical situations by one who is sick of the same old headlines," showed Huey Long entering a monastery, Admiral Byrd wintering in Tahiti, J. P. Morgan delivering a soapbox oration against capitalism, W. R. Hearst becoming ambassador to Soviet Russia, and the Japanese emperor getting the Nobel peace prize.

It is a very old form of joke among comic artists, so threadbare in America that no one could possibly be shocked by it or even very much amused. But the Japanese emperor, benighted and unimproved, is represented drawing a cart on which lies a ribboned scroll representing the Nobel prize.

It was not the implication that Emperor Hirohito is perhaps less peace-loving than a Quaker which drew Japanese resentment and brought Ambassador Saito rushing back to Washington from his vacation to handle Japanese protests. It was the fact that Hirohito, believed by many of his subjects to be virtually a divinity, was shown at the menial task of pulling a cart. To pious Japanese, this is a gratuitous affront not to the policies, but to the person, of the emperor.

Americans, naturally, cannot understand this at all. President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt have been lampooned far worse by this same magazine. But they understand American humor and American political cartooning. They laughed wholeheartedly at such cartoons of themselves, and even asked to have the original drawings in some cases. And what about our own Premier Bennett and Mr. Mackenzie King? Japanese should try to understand two things in this connection: First, that this artist, while attacking the public policy of the emperor, probably had not the slightest idea of affronting the emperor's person, and undoubtedly did not know he had done so until it was explained to him. Second, that the United States government has not and can not have any control over such cartoons.

It is hard to believe that any real harm will have been done by this frolicsome and, to the average point of view on this continent, quite innocent bit of satire. But it does show why peoples must try to understand better each other's point of view and be tolerant of it.

NOT FOR CANADA

THE IDEA OF A "NATIONAL" GOVERNMENT for Canada, of course, is out of the question. It is an idea which has been fostered by those elements which have failed to absorb the spirit of the changing times.

We are reminded by The Toronto Star, by the way, that the arrival in this country of the Australian Attorney-General, Hon. R. G. Menzies, extolling the beauties of "national government" is a little too late to bring national candidates into the field for the federal election. On landing at Quebec, the Australian Attorney-General is reported to have said:

"In Australia we have had something approximating national government for a number of years, and in spite of the fact I am a member of that government, I must say it has achieved astonishing results. There are many things a national government can do much better than a government composed of members of different parties. Drastic economies, for instance, can be carried out without any one party making political capital out of them."

This is really very interesting, says our Toronto contemporary, but Mr. Menzies, we are afraid, cannot exactly understand the Canadian situation. Canadians during the last five years have had to put up with drastic economies, which truly have also accomplished astonishing results. There is a feeling that a different sort of economy is needed—a new economic deal all round, as it were. Debt, including public debt, are mounting and standards of living are lowering.

It is, of course, the fashion for visiting statesmen from other dominions to give bright pictures of conditions in their own lands. But at the same time as Mr. Menzies arrives from Australia via England, the Australian mail via Victoria brings to Ottawa the following intelligence: The figures of debt per head of population of the people of Australia for the last five years, roughly the term of the virtual national government of Australia, are as follows:

1931	177
1932	180
1933	181

School textbooks used to tell us that a rising national debt showed the rise in national prosperity, but the experience of the last few years has shown up this pleasant fiction. "No thank you, Mr. Menzies, we would rather not have what is called 'national government'."

HOUSE VERSUS AUTOMOBILE

THEY WERE DISCUSSING THE HOUSING problem—why more private builders have not built new homes during the last few years, thus improving housing conditions and bringing jobs back to long-unemployed building craftsmen. This is the comment of an influential free-lance journalist in the neighboring republic.

All the old considerations were threshed out, the high cost of building materials and labor, low wages, high cost of lots and financing charges, and all the rest of it. Then a very astute editor broke into the conversation. "I think the biggest factor in housing is not houses at all, but the automobile," he said. He argued that a man with an average salary below $1,500 a year could not afford payments on both a house and an automobile. And that to-day this average man, unable to have both, prefers the auto to the house. This may or may not be the average point of view of the taxpayer in Victoria.

The manner in which automobile sales of 1935 have stood up all year long at the highest point in several years gives strength to this idea in the country to the south of us.

We quote: "It would seem that men re-employed and men beginning to 'get out of the red' have been buying automobiles first, but not houses. Perhaps the houses will come later, but it seems to be getting established that the auto now comes first."

"For in these days you can live in the car most of the time. Many a man chooses inferior housing plus a car in preference to a more comfortable home without one."

"This was not said critically, but in an honest effort to determine whether new influences may not be at work on the housing situation which is only in recent months beginning feebly to revive."

"The day is past when the automobile was considered a luxury. Under present conditions of life, it may well be thought of as a necessity to most men. Therefore, it is no use to bewail the change in taste. If it is a fact, it must be faced."

"And the Canadian way to face the issue is to work for establishment of such conditions that a man need not choose between a decent home and an automobile. The Canadian way is to work for such a condition that he may have both. That way prosperity lies."

LONG PULL OPTIMISM

BRITISH UNEMPLOYMENT, SAYS THE conservative Federation of British Industries, "should be solved, in major part, within less than ten years."

This statement, regarded as sensationally optimistic, followed publication of government statistics showing that for the first time since 1930 unemployment figures have fallen to less than 2,000,000.

Remember that Britain had an unemployment situation, and a bad one, for several years before Canada or the United States did. The British fight against it has been slow, but unremitting. Now they are thinking in terms of ten years, but still determined, still hopeful.

This shows the bitterness of the struggle against the Fifth Horseman, who rides so relentlessly these days. It shows that the fight may be long, but that determination and sustained effort can and will win it.

MORE SUPER LINERS

FROM NEW YORK COMES A REPORT that plans are being made for the construction of two super-liners capable of carrying 5,000 persons and costing about $50,000,000 each. Liners such as these would be bigger than either the Queen Mary or France's Normandie.

The cost of the Queen Mary is set at about $30,000,000 and the Normandie $53,000,000. Both, of course, are marvelous achievements. An expert on shipping travel and cost of operating such luxury-liners as these declares that the Normandie to return her cost to the French Line in a normal luxury-liner's lifetime will have to carry 66,000 passengers each year. Last year, this authority says, all the company's ships combined carried no more than 40,000 passengers. Government subsidies will take care of the deficit, which means that the French taxpayer will have to foot the bill this involved.

It will be recalled that had it not been for subvention from the British government, the Queen Mary, construction of which was held up for many months, could not have been completed. It is not necessary to emphasize the fact that the building of the British and French giants furnished considerable employment for British and French workmen directly and indirectly. It remains to be realized what the ratio of benefit will be to the ratio of taxation incurred.

SUMMER COTTAGE CREATURES

What strange acquaintances I make
Out at the cottage by the lake.
So many curious things I see,
A different world it seems to be.
The rooms, the walls, the fields are rife
With most fantastic forms of life:
Moth millers of a mighty size,
Mysterious double-jointed flies;
Spiders and wasps and things that crawl
Through window space and crannied wall;
Mosquitoes, gnats and stinging mites
Buzz round the lamps on summer nights.
Serving with ghastly frightfulness
Some purpose which I cannot guess.
Countless their number and their kind,
And most ingeniously designed;
Strange shapes which seem to live and die
Merely to keep man wondering why.

SPEED LIMITS

The Toronto Telegram

Primarily, the legislation which limits motor speed to twenty miles an hour in settled districts and thirty-five miles an hour on the open highway is designed to promote safety rather than to provide revenue. At best, it is an imperfect approximation of what is desirable. Under certain conditions it is recognized that the limit is entirely too high. Under others—with wide streets and freedom from traffic, pedestrian or otherwise—the limit can be exceeded without creating any danger. This has been realized in practice in connection with Fleet Street and the Lake Shore boulevard, when a modest rate over the legal twenty miles an hour is apparently winked at without harm to anybody and to the satisfaction of most people using these highways. And if motorists habitually slowed down to the legal limit of ten miles an hour at all street intersections in cities, towns and villages, they would probably be speeded up by traffic police.

A THOUGHT

For every one that doeth evil hateth the light, neither cometh to the light, lest his deeds should be reproved.

There are thousands hacking at the branches of evil to one who is striking at the root.—Thoreau.

Loose Ends

It's surprising how much you can learn by just listening—
And nearly all of it quite useless—but interesting to historians of our times.

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

INFORMATION

IT IS really surprising how much charming and useless information you can gather in an hour of merely wandering about Victoria. In the course of a few weeks you could write an encyclopedia if you preserved all the facts that drop from the lips of fellows you meet on the street, but nobody preserves them. To-day, having nothing better to do, and wishing to divert my mind temporarily from the overshadowing crisis of this time—refer, of course, to the fishing trip which will start suddenly one day this week—I jotted down everything that I heard. It didn't make much sense, but it seemed to represent a sort of cross-section of society and its current thoughts at this critical period. In history which historians call the "other night," in the history of Chalmers and in it the Bishop of Cologne, wishing to build a cathedral, called for architects and builders to come to Cologne for "work and wages." Those were the exact words. And our politicians imagine they invented the phrase!

"The great thing about smoking a fish," said a leading government official, who controls a large public department, "is to make sure that it is well salted first and that the blow flies don't get on it."

"People are funny," said the girl at the soda fountain and this I considered a very profound observation. "I mean, you never know what they'll want. We make up a lot of strawberry ice cream and they want chocolate. Make chocolate and they want strawberry. The kids aren't so bad. They know what they want. But the old people, when they buy cones this hot weather they're reckless. They're liable to ask for any kind of flavor. I guess it's a kind of reckless age, you think?"

COMPASS

YOUR CAR tell a good compass," said the Jewish gentleman who sells nearly everything "by the metal bottom. If it's a cardboard bottom don't touch it. Now this one is a good one only seventy-five cents and you can't get lost in the woods if you got it and me I never go into the woods without one because you never do you know. If the people in this town don't know it they're going north or south most of the time and most of 'em ain't going nowhere anyhow now. Government Street it runs north or south most of the time now. Government Street it runs north or south north but almost and I'm like you I never wear rings or tiepins or jewelry even though I sell 'em I never wear a tie even or a collar because what's the use in a town like this?" He seemed to think, indeed, that he was conferring a great favor on the community by wearing any clothes at all.

SNAKE CHARMER

THERE'S more travel this year than any year since 1929," the taxi driver at the wharf told me. "You see them gals in kilts there? They play the happiest every time the boat comes in. The Yanks get a great bang out of it. Think they're in Scotland or something. One of 'em said to me, 'We come to a little bit of old England on the shores of the Pacific (that's what the tourist folders say) and by gosh,' he says, 'we're met by snake charmers.' But they're also little gals but I bet none of them ever seen Scotland."

"British Columbia," said a leading financial expert who shall be nameless, "is going into new debt at the rate of about $8,000,000 a year. In ten more years at this rate we'd have a debt of a quarter of a billion. How long are we going on like this? You're asking me?"

SAFETY

THERE'S a person killed by automobiles every fifteen minutes in the States, day and night the whole year round, do you know that?" said a fellow who had been doing some cheerleading in his spare time. "It's a great laugh, this idea that when we drive out our roads and cut down the curves they'll be safer. Over there they have the best roads in the world and kill a fellow every fifteen minutes, more in a few years than they'd kill in a first-rate revolution. The safer the roads the faster they go so the safer the road the more dangerous it is. So I guess we got the safest roads in the world here."

"How come you didn't have a column in the paper the other night?" said a leading local radical. "I bet what you said was so hot the paper wouldn't print it. It's the same with all the capitalist press. (As a matter of fact, the fellow I gave the fellow here to let him bring under a telephone directory for two days but it appeared in due course and wasn't so hot.)"

WAR
THE REASON," said my communist friend, "my Bennett is delaying the election is because he expects war in Europe. If there's a war, he'd try to form a national war government and maybe put off the election. And he may succeed yet."

"Anybody who lives in Victoria is too lucky to live at all," said the native Victorian who made good in New York in a big way and had just flown out from there to go fishing with me. "Why anybody ever leaves the place is beyond me. A millionaire back there can't have half as much fun as an ordinary fellow here. Let me breathe in some of this air! It tastes like heaven after Wall Street in this weather."

HOGS

WERE short of hogs in British Columbia," said the chief provincial authority on farming. "We throw away tons of buttermilk and skim milk that could feed more and we import them. This is a grave problem. We can't afford, as they do in the United States, to pay fellows for not raising hogs. We can't afford birth control in the swine here. We're not that civilized out here. We're going in for more and more swine. Yet sometimes when I think of what our political enemies are saying about us, I wonder if there is such a shortage of swine after all."

FAST CARS

TWO RAGGED FELLOWS who push a hand truck on the wharf with soiled laundry from the boats were having a fierce argument. "I tell you," said the first, "the Hupmobile is the only stock car that will run 40 miles an hour." The Packard sixteen will," said the second angrily. "Yeah, but that ain't a stock car," said the first. "A Duesenberg will do 170 but it ain't a stock car either. I guess I should know!" He glared so fiercely at the second that I thought he would punch him on the nose. "Any way, I'll stick by the Packard," said the second stoutly, not yielding an inch. "That's because you don't know," said the first, and he fairly hopped with rage. "The Hup is the fastest stock car on wheels. I can prove it to you. You keep your truck. I'll stick to the Hup every time." A ship's officer came along and ordered them to push their hand truck of dirty laundry out of the way.

BACK IN 1930

FARM MARKETS

Mr. Bennett at Orillia, July 17, 1930

The British consumer will buy where he can buy most cheaply. And it is the duty of the government to make it possible for Canadians to produce more cheaply than others. It is the duty of the government to build waterways, highways, to promote technical education in agriculture as well as in other lines, and thus enable the costs of production to be lessened.

A British miller, after buying French wheat, was reported as saying he would be lacking in business acumen if he bought any other because it was many shillings lower in price.

And so the British are buying French wheat and Argentine wheat instead of ours.

Rod and Gun Club Outing

Cumberland, Aug. 14.—The annual picnic of the Cumberland Rod and Gun Club held on Sunday at Quarts Creek was a marked success. Over 200 attended, the largest crowd for years. The trip up the lake was made in Blackburn's boat, which towed a scow to accommodate the overflow, in addition to numbers of private boats. A fishing competition was won by Andrew Gibson and John Seavards, biggest weight of catch; second George Raga and John Francis, and third, Bill Brown and Tom Brown. The prizes were spoons donated by Gibbs Tool and Stamping Works, Vancouver.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

To the Editor:—During the evenings of the last two weeks I have been realizing what we are missing by not having Daylight Saving. Take Monday evening for instance, the finest we have had for some time, it was dark by 8 o'clock. Everywhere you hear, "My, aren't the evenings drawing in?"

I am prompted to write this letter now so that the people who wrote letters to the papers in opposition to Daylight Saving may look about in the evenings and see what they are missing. There is no use talking Daylight Saving next December at the civic elections as you don't realize what you are missing then. Now is the time to campaign for Daylight Saving.

SUPPORTER.

EVOLUTION

To the Editor:—Re the discussion on evolution in your columns, might I state that evolution is contrary to the beliefs of many, an unproved hypothesis with no certain proof of a single one of its truths.

On the other hand, those people, known I believe, as infidels, who delight in capturing the awe of popular ignorance by learnedly denouncing the truths of God's Word (the Bible) are being constantly made to "eat their own words" by fresh scientific discoveries that confirm the Bible in a startling manner.

Space does not permit me using lengthy arguments, but I would like to quote the following words:

"Evolution has no proofs; many leading scientists reject Darwinism; and there is no other plan of evolution than the zoological section of proofs, and I accept, as the British Association said in 1929,

"because the alternative, special creation is incredible."

"What a reason for believing man's invention—because God's proof is not credible to them, not because evolution is proved!"

"And how does the evolutionist explain the eye when he leaves God out. Here is the only guess which I have seen—if you find any others, I shall be glad to know of them, as I am collecting the guesses of the evolutionists. The evolutionist guesses that there was a time when eyes were unknown—that is a necessary part of the hypothesis. And since the eye is a universal possession among living things the evolutionist guesses that it came into being—was designed by act of God—but just happened, and how did it happen? I will give you the guess—a piece of pigment, or some say, a freckle appeared on the skin of an animal that had no eyes."

"This piece of pigment, or freckle converted the rays of the sun on that spot and when the little animal felt the heat on that spot it turned the spot to the sun to get more heat. The increased heat irritated the skin—the evolutionist guesses, and a nerve came, and out of the nerve came the eye."

"Can you beat it? But this only accounts for one eye. There must have been another piece of pigment, or freckle soon afterward, and in just the right place in order to give the animal two eyes."

—CHRISTIAN.

Hundreds Throng To Indian Show

Colorful pageantry of Past Era Revived by Cowichan Tribesmen Here

Pageantry of a past era, symbolic tribal songs and dances of the Cowichan people, old before the white man invaded Vancouver Island, were revived for the entertainment of approximately 2,700 spectators at Athletic Park yesterday evening as the dancers of that tribe gave dramatic reproduction of highlights of their history.

In spite of a cold wind which cut through summer clothing, the throngs which crowded to capacity the seating accommodation of the park and overflowed to the grounds, stayed throughout the two-hour programme until the daughter of the Weeping Cascade was married, by tribal rite to the son of Rolling Thunder.

Father W. M. Neway, director of the pageant, staged under flood lights, with a high riding moon and two bonfires adding to the illumination, carried a running series of explanations in English to the spectators while the Indians performed their dances and sang their songs in native style.

Much of what the gallery saw yesterday evening may never be repeated. It was explained by Father Neway the dances held during the evening were not the more serious numbers in the Indians' repertoire and laughter was unchecked.

COLORFUL COSTUMES

Clad in their picturesque uniforms, the dancers opened the programme with a grand parade. Much of the detail of their intricately made costumes was lost in the insufficient light and distance, but the event proved an interesting ceremony as they marched to the beat of skin drums and the rhythmic clapping of the Indian spectators with sticks on upturned benches.

Following the parade the dancers celebrated the anniversary of the marriage of Pale Moon to Eagle Eye, presenting their Feast Dance with its aboriginal rhythm and steps.

The number opened with the dancers imitating paddlers as they swung their canoes north from Cowichan to Campbell River. As they paddled, bodies swaying in unison, they chanted the song of the river.

To demonstrate their friendliness they sang the song of peace, raising their voices to the beat of the drum and the jingle of ankle-rattles made of deer hooves. The song presaged a day's peace between the two tribes, not on friendly terms.

Waving spears and rushing around the enclosure, they changed their rhythm and retreated from the scene.

DYING DEER
In a particularly skillful and easily understood presentation, select members of the group entertained the throng with "The Song of the Dying Deer." A single dancer, robed in the clearest circle, leaped and swung along in a particularly realistic imitation of a deer. As the deer bounded on the grass, hunters, armed with spears and traditionally dressed, stalked the animal. Twice it escaped the angry spear points but fell a third time, transfixed by an Indian lance. In the dance the animal was skinned and trussed for pecking and the number closed with the hunter walking away with his prize.

As an interim number, the Indians enacted a dance telling the story of their introduction to "fire water" by the white man, before swinging into one of their main features, the story of the battle and massacre of Campbell River Indians by the Cowichan warriors.

Opening with the song of the warriors, in which some of the "new" Indian dancers appeared with their head dresses of long hair, the dramatized story told of the trips of the rival war parties paddling to meet their foes. The group representing Cowichan was depicted cleverly ambushing the Campbell River men and signalling to one another with call of the duck, the quail and other creatures of nature. The battle in which all the Campbell River warriors were slain was carried out in another measure before the Cowichans broke into the chant of victory.

CHIEF'S FUNERAL
Following they gave an illustration of the funeral of a chief, the figure representing the departed leader being swathed about the head to meet the Indian edict that the face of the dead might not meet the public gaze.

A coffin was brought into the amphitheatre by mourning dancers whose heads decked in wreaths of hemlock. To the impressive measure of a dirge, the mourners carried the casket to the fallen chief, placed the body in the coffin, singing "We have brought thy coffin to thee," and then marched away while the drums beat a muffled rumble. The funeral song was that of the particular family to which the chief belonged. Grieved by the solemnity of the presentation, the usual restiveness of the crowd abated while the ceremony was being performed.

With great élan the dancers assembled for the marriage of the daughter of the Weeping Cascade to the son of Rolling Thunder, a direct descendant of Trouhalem, the Warrior of Ten Thousand Scalps.

MASKED DANCER

A masked dancer, garbed in a costume of eagle feathers and wearing a huge mask of splendid workmanship, appeared on the scene. He represented those people who were not of the earth, the spirit people, and moved in and out among the wedding group. He disappeared to return with a little girl, the sister of the bride, who was placed in a swing slung with Indian blankets to illustrate the richness of the bride's father. Going through the unique steps of his ceremonial dance, he circled the enclosure, finally stopping before the group in which stood the groom, the son of Rolling Thunder. Taking him by the hand he approached the bride, where sat the bride and her father. Advancing and retreating, he finally presented the groom to the bride.

As the ceremony neared completion, Mayor Leeming, on behalf of the assembled crowd, approached the happy couple and wished them every success and happiness in their married life. He presented to them a silver tea service amid thunderous applause from the spectators and capped the proceedings by kissing the bride.

As he left, a mad scramble ensued for pieces of the blankets used in the ceremony. The free-for-all was likened by the commentator to the modern practice of striving for flowers from the bride bouquet. As the ceremony progressed, the singers chanted their various numbers appropriate to the occasion.

Closing the programme the dancers again assembled to present their song of farewell.

"DISRAELI OF CANADA"
CANADA owes its present form of government more to Sir John Alexander Macdonald than to any other single person. Sir John, one of Canada's greatest statesmen and often referred to as the "Disraeli of Canada," was the leading spirit behind the successful confederation of the Canadian provinces in 1867 into one Dominion.

Born in 1815, Sir John was called to the Canadian bar in 1838 and then rose successively from receiver-general to commissioner of crown lands, to attorney-general, to leader of the assembly and, by 1862, to minister of the crown. He took a leading part in Dominion military affairs. From 1867 to 1873, also attorney-general. In 1878 he became premier of Canada and remained at the head of the government until his death in 1891.

When Canada issued a series of stamps in 1927 commemorating the sixtieth anniversary of the confederation, it included one for Sir John Macdonald, shown here. In addition MacDonald's portrait is shown, with that of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on the twelve cent historical stamp also issued in 1927.

The City Fire Department yesterday afternoon attended a roof and attic fire at the Oak Bay boathouse, Beach Drive. Minor damage was caused by the blaze. The department today also attended calls to a bush fire at Rockland Avenue and Moss Street, a roof fire at 1100 Pandora Avenue, and a fire at 1024 Pandora Avenue.

CITY HONORS NAVAL MEN

Civic Luncheon Tendered Officers of Visiting Ships and Canadian Navy

Civic dignitaries, headed by Mayor David Leeming, who presided at the function, extended greetings to the United States cruiser Salt Lake City, represented by the captain and his officers, and gave a welcome and farewell to the captain and officers of H.M.S. Danne at the civic luncheon tendered to the visiting ships and the Canadian Navy representatives in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

During the luncheon, Mayor David Leeming voiced welcome and good wishes to the visitors. He was followed in turn by Captain C. H. Knox-Little, in command of the Danne, Captain Allan S. Farquhar, U.S.S. Salt Lake City, and General Sir Thomas Ashley Cubitt, governor-general of Bermuda, who expressed their thanks to the city for the hospitality they had been accorded.

Mayor Leeming introduced R. P. Butchart, freeman of the city of Victoria. The mayor said Mr. Butchart and Viscount Willingdon were the only people on whom the city had conferred the distinction of "freeman."

In turn he introduced Brigadier D. J. MacDonald, G.O.C. M.D. 11, welcoming him to the city. Hon. K. C. MacDonald, Minister of Agriculture, representing Premier Pattullo at the function, General Sir Thomas Ashley Cubitt, D. B. Plunkett, and Commander G. C. Jones, senior naval officer at Esquimalt.

NAVY WEEK IDEA
The mayor spoke of Victoria's appreciation of the navy, referring to the days when Esquimalt was the berth place of five of His Majesty's ships. Their withdrawal from the city had been a distinct loss to its social life, he said. In the future, he hoped more ships would be stationed here.

Victoria's citizens, he said, would do all in their power to make the visitors stay here pleasant. He called upon Captain C. H. Knox-Little, who said he appeared in a dual capacity as the master of H.M.S. Danne, a guest, and as a joint host with the Canadian Navy to the United States man-of-war, Salt Lake City.

He feared it would be the last visit to Victoria of the Danne as it was scheduled. The Danne, he said, was "heading for the last round-up."

The visit to Victoria was the ship's last visit to Canada before she returned to Plymouth to be placed in reserve, the captain explained.

When the ship left Esquimalt on Monday, she would be flying the "paying off pennant."

NAVY WEEK GOOD THING
Captain Knox-Little paid tribute to the ideal of Navy Week with its emphasis on the importance to the empire of the navy. He spoke in glowing terms of the hospitality which had been shown to the visitors.

He felt in some way, in conjunction with the Canadian Navy, hosts to the United States Navy represented by the Salt Lake City, Captain Knox-Little said. He did not believe anything the Danne did could compensate for the hospitality his ship had found in United States ports. Captain Knox-Little expressed the hope the commander, officers and men of the Salt Lake City would enjoy their stay in Esquimalt as much as the Danne had.

Mayor Leeming then called upon Capt. Allan S. Farquhar, commanding the Salt Lake City. The mayor remarked that when the British and United States joined together, the world would be safe from war.

"When they join together they can say there will be war no more," he stated.

ELATED OVER VISIT
Captain Farquhar declared his ship had been highly elated over the orders which had sent the Salt Lake City to Victoria. It was "sort of like old home week" to come back to Canada, he said, stating he had sailed under both British and United States flags in the North Sea during the war.

He spoke of his work as a convoy escort stating none of the convoys his unit had cared for had been lost traveling through the submarine zone.

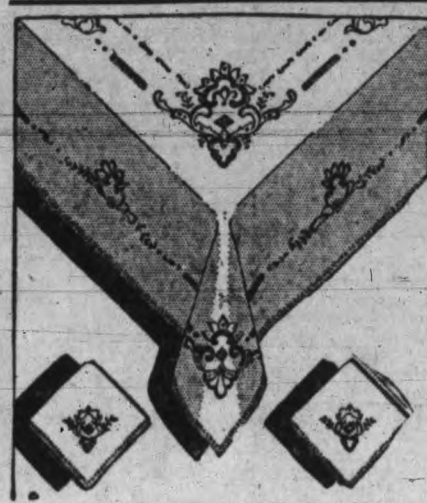

The captain noted the dates on which his ship would be open to the public, and closed with thanks again for the hospitality his officers and men had been shown in Victoria.

Before closing Mayor Leeming asked Captain Knox-Little to convey to Admiral Drax of the British fleet, who was here on two occasions, the city's regards.

General Sir Thomas Ashley Cubitt, spoke humorously of his visit to Victoria. It was his first visit to Canada, he said.

He and his wife had enjoyed every minute of their stay in Canada, Sir Thomas said. He intended to visit

Pretty Ceremony Joins Well-known Couple

Miss Mona Miller Becomes Bride of Harold A. Tomalin at St. Andrew's; Reception at Empress Hotel

Masses of summer flowers in white and pastel colors made an effective background for the interesting wedding which took place in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, the principals being Miss Mona Miller, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Miller, and Mr. Harold A. Tomalin, son of Mr. Tomalin and the late Dr. W. J. C. Tomalin of Victoria.

Old friends of the bride, under the direction of Mrs. George D. Tyson and Miss Helen Forman, were responsible for the decorations of the church.

A screen of summer flowers in blues and pinks, including hydrangeas, roses, larkspur, sweet peas, snapdragon, monkshood and hollyhocks was erected in front of the pulpit, with palms arranged along the choir stalls. Standard baskets of the flowers also graced the rostrum, making a lovely setting for the ceremony, while sweet peas in flanne and white, with gypsophila, designated the guest pews.

Rev. H. P. S. Luttrell performed the ceremony, and as the bride entered the church, Mr. Jesse Longfield, the organist, played the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin."

Given in marriage by her father, the fair-haired bride was a graceful figure in her handsome model gown of lustrous ivory satin, of almost classical simplicity. The high-necked bodice was finished with a cowl neck in front, the back being closed from neck to waist with satin-covered buttons. Similar buttons finished the long, close-fitting sleeves from wrist to elbow. The panel back of the graceful floor-length skirt extended into a full court train.

Her exquisite veil of Carrickmacross lace was caught to the head in cap fashion, banded at the nape of the neck with orange blossoms, from which the veil fell in snowy folds to the edge of the train. She carried a shower bouquet of Butterfly roses and white sweet peas.

Miss Jean Campbell, the only attendant, was attractive in a sleeveless gown of deep blue lace, with deep cape back, edged with pleated net to tone. With it she wore long lace mittens to match, and a picture hat of deep blue lace straw, trimmed with French flowers, and carried a bouquet of delphinium and Tallahassee roses.

Major James Wise was the groomsmen, and the ushers were Messrs. R. P. Piers and J. Donald Campbell.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the Empress Hotel, in the Duke of Keft private dining room.

Standard baskets of blue larkspur and palest pink snapdragon formed the lovely floral decoration of the rooms, and on the buffet where refreshments were served, The four-tiered wedding cake, cut by the bride as the traditional custom was honored, was topped with a silver vase of beehives.

Mrs. David Miller, mother of the bride, received the guests in a handsome model gown of Marina blue, with hat of navy blue Milan straw, with touches of lighter blue, and pale pink gardenias posed beneath the brim. Her corsage bouquet was of Cypripedium and delphinium. She was assisted by Mrs. W. J. C. Tomalin, who wore a smart ensemble of dove grey suede lace, with Gainsborough model hat of black tulle and satin, with diamond ornament. Her corsage bouquet was of Tallahassee roses and violets.

On the return they will make their home at 1385 Manor Road.

Among the many beautiful wedding gifts was a silver entree dish from the staff of the Victoria High School, where the bride has been physical training instructor for some years, and a case of flat silver from the bridegroom's colleagues in the Provincial Civil Service.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included Dr. and Mrs. E. J. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. David McKee and Mr. and Mrs. E. G. McDougall, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Corfield, Duncan, and Mrs. E. C. Trench, Duncan.

Miss Florence Newburn and Miss Mary Thomson, R.N., were joint hostesses yesterday evening at Miss Thomson's home on Musgrave Street, with a kitchen shower in honor of Miss Blanche Cooley, R.N., a September bride-to-be. The gifts were presented in a basket prettily decorated in a color scheme of pink and white, in keeping with the floral decorations, and surmounted by a miniature bride. A buffet supper was served during the evening. The invited guests were Mrs. M. M. Brown, Mrs. Bowyer, Mrs. Tangas, Mrs. Herbert Roy, Misses Grace Lowe, Eva Fontana and Christine Cushman.

Miss Sadie Trotter of Courtenay and Mr. Alexander MacDonald, son of Mrs. C. MacDonald of Cumberland, whose marriage will take place in the near future, were the recipients of a handsome gift from the members of Mrs. MacDonald's bridge club on Thursday evening, on the occasion of a little gathering at her home at Cumberland. Members of the club arranged a bridge at which the following members and visitors were present: Mrs. K. Brown, Mrs. J. Quinn, Mrs. J. Watson, Mrs. H. Parkinson, Mrs. J. Davis, Mrs. Abrams, Mrs. R. McNeil, Mrs. J. Lockner, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. W. Newman, Mrs. C. Whyte. Guests were Mrs. H. Farmer, Mrs. Lobley and Mrs. T. Whyte of California. Prizewinners were Mrs. T. Whyte, first; and Mrs. J. ## WANT DIONNES FOR MOVIES

Quintuplets Offered Part in Harold Lloyd Story by Studio

Associated Press
Hollywood, Aug. 14.—The Dionne quintuplets can have a featured spot in Harold Lloyd's new movie if they want it. Paramount Studios have begun negotiations to that end. The film in which Lloyd plays a milkman, has received from Dr. Allan Roy D'Arce, the quinte physician, a reply to his first overture to the effect the quintuplets are under exclusive contract to a newswall concern, but Shadon still hopes to get the quintet in his picture.

In the event a contract should be made, the studio would send a crew to photograph the famous five in their home town.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning!—
The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, weak and the world looks pink.
Laxatives are only makeshifts. A more bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 50c.

B.C. COUNTESS DIES ABROAD

Late Countess Bubna Was Big Ranch Owner in Okanagan

Canadian Press
Kelowna, B.C., Aug. 14.—Word has been received here of the death in Switzerland of Countess I. M. Bubna, until a few years ago a wealthy ranch owner in British Columbia and Alberta.

The countess, about seventy years old, died at Montreux, Switzerland, last Thursday.

She came here with her two daughters, Countess Olga and Countess Ina, in 1923 from Alberta, where she had large land holdings acquired after the war.

Purchasing the Potlatch ranch at Kelowna, near here, Countess Bubna renamed the property the Eldorado ranch and carried out a number of improvements. Later she had the Eldorado Arms constructed at Okanagan Mission.

During the last few years she has made her home in Europe and has disposed of her British Columbia property.

Said to have been a stepdaughter of a former Duke of Sutherland, the countess married Count Bubna of Austria, who is believed to be living in New York.

Countess Olga married Capt. J. Horn of Kelowna and they make their home here.

Countess Ina is married to an Austrian count and is living in Europe.

Says Girls Sated With Pleasure

London Congress Hear Modern Woman Denounced; Mind a Blank to Responsibilities

London, Special Correspondence.—Sated with pleasure... discontented... their minds a blank.

This striking denunciation of modern women was made by Miss M. E. Popham, a member of the Empire Citizenship Training Council, when addressing the Imperial Social Hygiene Congress in London.

"I believe," she said, "that there are many girls to-day who have had an average education which has not been sufficiently broad or purposeful."

"This is followed by some years of social life and gaiety, and then they do one of two things."

"They either wake up to the fact that they have some responsibilities as citizens—but their minds are quite blank as to how to carry out these responsibilities—or else they do not realize what is wrong with them except that they fight with their families and are discontented and dissatisfied with life. They are sated with pleasure."

"They object strongly to their families attempting to give them some guidance in life, and yet they are unable to direct their lives themselves."

"At this stage then, they face the question: 'Are they going to marry or adopt a career?' and they are afraid of making a failure of both."

BLIND GIRL'S SUCCESS

In refreshing contrast to this gloomy aspect of modern women comes news of the success of a blind eighteen-year-old girl named Ruth Hitchcock.

She has been awarded a special scholarship at Newnham, the women's college at Cambridge.

This is a sequel to her brilliant work in a recent open scholarship examination which she took in competition with normal-sighted women. She failed to come out top, but did so well that both Gorton and Newnham offered to accept her as a member.

She has chosen Newnham, and will go into residence for her first term next October.

She will study theology.

Miss Hitchcock has been educated at a college run by the National Institute for the Blind. She was blinded by illness at the age of eleven months.

Despite this terrible drawback, her school career has been outstandingly successful. Besides passing several stiff examinations, with honors, she has been able to learn to play the piano exquisitely and to compose poetry.

LAND WITHOUT A DRESS

England has no national costume—makes this discovery this week while watching 500 men and women from eighteen European countries demonstrate their national dances at the International Folk Dance Festival.

Many of these dancers had never before left their native villages. Some could neither read nor write.

With them danced 400 British dancers, displaying the dances of England and Scotland.

The Scottish dancers wore kilts... Spanish women mantillas and shawls... Dutch Gretchenes wore cloaks and snow-white bonnets... Austrians were Tyrolese costume... Soviet Russians wore high Russian boots... but the vast majority of the English dancers wore ordinary tennis costume.

The men wore white flannels and a white shirt. The women wore a white silk frock with a blue, red or green cape collar.

Only the men Morris dancers attempted a national dress. They had a white shirt with what appeared to be colored hose, cross-gartered stockings and white trousers ending at the calf in bands of silken tassels.

The entire festival has been a great success. For every evening session, the 10,000 seats of the vast Albert Hall were sold out, while in the afternoon London's open-air theatre in Regent's Park was crowded.

DANCE OF LIFE
Some of the dances, now to be learned by English students, had very curious titles and traditions. The Roumanians, for example, performed the "Dance of Life"—a curious circle-formation dance in which the performers dance round a man who is supposed to be sick.

By the weird movements of their arms, they are supposed to charm the sickness from him into themselves. Then they dance round each other to charm the sickness away entirely.

To the English tongue, the names of some of the peasants appeared as curious as their dances.

Among them was a girl with the fascinating surname of Kiss. Her Christian name was Maria, and she came from Hungary.

One Swiss girl was a famous yodeller and from the same country came a man who played an enormous "yod" said to be eight feet long and loudest in the world.

WEST MEETS EAST
Oriental jewelry is fashionable in Paris.

"Byzantine" necklaces—multi-colored glass hemispheres with long pearl earrings—worn by Cleopatra are exotic tough to summer.

The necklaces are brilliant—purple, yellow, green, blue and blue beads are all gathered—while a gold band hemisphere adds to the glitter.

Among these, there are massive silver oblongs—ruby-tinted glass spheres and plate necklaces of heavy—

These are strung in thin chains and cover the whole front of a frock almost to the waist.

One of the new oriental necklaces is a "two-in-one" design. Its gold circles are filled on one side with Chinese red enamel plaques and on the other side with turquoise matrices.

Another is made of flat white china circles some of which are as big as the top of a teacup.

Pearl necklaces—now much worn in the afternoon and evening—have also followed the vogue for large jewels. They are appearing in three, or four-tiered designs, some of them fastened across the back with a chain of silver leaves studded with rhinestones or silver oblongs filled with rows of sapphire-colored glass spheres.

Meanwhile the newest thing in evening earrings is an exotic "Cleopatra" model—three loops of gems which sway against the cheek. Some are of pearl, others of gleaming topaz. They are attached to the head dress by means of a silver wire which tapers around the back of the blossom, wheat gold or gummy, aged thirteen months, had been in walking about clinging to the back of his play pen for better than three months. No one could understand why he failed to walk alone.

When Jimmy's mother bought him another pair of shoes at another store, she found that the first pair had been fitted several sizes too small. Jimmy slipped off his mother's lap, and in brand new, large-sized shoes, he walked proudly across the floor.

IT IS VITAL
The proper fit of a small child's shoes is a far more vital matter than some mothers imagine. In some stores they consider it sufficient to lift a baby onto the counter, stuff his unresisting, limp feet into small, soft shoes and decide that they fit.

Steady growth on a standing platform. When the full weight of the child is on his feet, they should be pressed down on a scale and the length noted. Then the shoes should be at least one inch longer than this

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDBRED

BABIES WON'T WALK IF THEIR SHOES ARE TOO SMALL

Evelyn, twenty-two months of age, suddenly developed the habit of fretting and whining. She chose to sit on the floor, and she made herself like lead rather than be forced to stand. When deep purplish patches and red creases on Evelyn's poor crushed feet were pointed out to her, the surprised mother said, "Why her feet are practically new." I had no means of a silver wire which tapers around the back of the blossom, wheat gold or gummy, aged thirteen months, had been in walking about clinging to the back of his play pen for better than three months. No one could understand why he failed to walk alone.

When Jimmy's mother bought him another pair of shoes at another store, she found that the first pair had been fitted several sizes too small. Jimmy slipped off his mother's lap, and in brand new, large-sized shoes, he walked proudly across the floor.

IT IS VITAL

Steady growth on a standing platform. When the full weight of the child is on his feet, they should be pressed down on a scale and the length noted. Then the shoes should be at least one inch longer than this standing length. The shoes should be square toed, and with a straight inner line.

The sole should be both thick and soft—soft enough to be easily bendable in the hand and thick enough to preserve the shape of the shoe and to protect the tender sole.

The material of a shoe may be any washable leather or fabric. By choosing a leather which can be washed or cleaned easily, the baby can be managed with only a pair of shoes at a time, a pair which is large enough to begin with and which can be discarded when the baby's rapid growth of foot indicates that the shoe is definitely too small. Not only is the baby's healthy foot dependent upon the comfort of his small shoe, but his good temper, and his normal development as well.

CHAPTER I

"All right, Bart!" Irene said quietly. "That's that."

"Oh, darling, he protested. 'Don't take it like that, please! Can't you see my side of it?'"

"I do," she assured him. "Only too well."

Far above them flying over the Presidio an airplane dipped and soared like a dizzy bird. She watched it thinking, "I wish I were up there."

"I haven't changed," Bartlett pleaded. "I love you just as much as ever."

"I'll never see an airplane again without remembering this," Irene mused, wondering why she felt no pain. People were supposed to suffer at moments like this but she was conscious of no sensation save surprise.

She had known such things happened, of course! One couldn't become a graduate nurse from one of San Francisco's largest hospitals without learning something about life. But that it might happen to her—Irene Gardner—was a possibility she had not even remotely considered. The day had started perfectly. It had been thrilling to wake to the familiar faintly antiseptic odor of training school bed linen and realize that for once she needn't jump shivering upon the bare, clean floor. No dashing of cold water across sleep-furrowed cheeks before she slipped into her uniform on this particular morning. It was, she reminded herself, unclosing startling, black-lashed, green eyes, the day for which she had hoped and prayed and worked for three long years.

"It's done it," she exulted, stretching her tired, young body luxuriously. "I've actually finished my training!"

There had been times, plenty of them, when she had feared she would not be able to do it. Days when fatigue and rebellion against the seemingly unnecessary routine had been almost strong enough to kill ambition. Nights when she wondered why she had ever chosen a profession demanding such rigid self-discipline.

She had even wept at the stupidity which she had led her to believe that she wanted to be a nurse, when she might have been a stenographer or telephone operator or any number of other things which permitted a girl to retain some fragment of independence after business hours.

That had, however, been a long time ago. Before her love for Dr. Bartlett Ralston had been woven like a gorgeous crimson thread into the fabric of her life.

Looking back from graduation day, the last year of her training seemed only a background for the pattern of her romance. It had developed gradually, although Irene, in common with every other girl in training school, had been fascinated by her first glimpse of the intern's darkly attractive face.

It was well known around the hospital that Bartlett Ralston had a promising future. The other resident doctors were frankly envious of the fact that Dr. Clifford Williams, chief-of-staff, showed more interest in the chief resident physician than he had ever evinced in anyone else. Even Pete Evans, Irene's best friend among the graduate nurses, admitted that he had the makings of a "darn fine surgeon."

Pete prided herself on being hard-boiled. To hear her tell it she had no faith in anyone, yet when the doctors had a case which demanded expert care and alert, unceasing attention they always asked for her. This, in spite of the fact that in return Pete had no illusions about them. Their peculiarities and prejudices, their fallacies and success were an open book to her.

To win professional commendation from Pete one must be almost superhuman. Irene thought, gloating over her friend's grudging admission of Bartlett's ability.

He had been a secret idol of Irene's for months before he gave her the first of those searching glances which afterward she learned to accept and return as a caress. Looking over a chair one day their hands touched and a flame seemed to flare between them. He admitted afterward that

GERMAN GIRLS GET STATE AID

On Leaving School They Are Taught Housecraft During "Land Year"

London, Aug. 14.—"Miss Germany at Home" is the title of an article in Overseas, written by Elizabeth Raymond. She says that when a German girl reaches the age of fourteen and has to leave school, she is not thrown into the world without state help and guidance.

If she cannot secure a situation, she can at once enrol for the "land year." She is then sent to one of the land homes, which are all situated in pleasant country not too far from a big town. Here, in healthy surroundings, a young German girl learns housecraft under a specially trained "leader" and "helper."

Regularly given on domestic and health matters — and the value of the "land year" to thousands of German girls at a very critical age cannot be exaggerated.

Fourteen-year-old girls who do not care for country life can select the "household year." By registering her name for the scheme, a girl will speedily be sent as a "companion help" to a state-approved private household. She gets only her keep and insurance contributions during her year, but her mistress is expected to give her proper sound training in domestic matters and the care of children.

It is a novel scheme, but it is working well, and thousands of otherwise unemployed town girls are finding happy homes as a result of it. Housewives are not expected to dispense with paid servants to make room for a "free" maid, and only in very rare cases is this being done. If the fact is discovered, the offending mistress's name is struck off the roll.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Then there is the "Deutsches Frauenwerk" (German Women's work), a national organization which incorporates the women's clubs all over the country. This body has taken energetically in hand the moral education and training of adolescent girls, and also the guidance of young mothers. Advice on all the intimate problems of women is freely given.

For women of older years, too, there are — in Germany — nowadays ample facilities to learn every aspect of domestic science. In Berlin there is the famous "School of Housewives" run by the Housewives' Association, where degrees and diplomas are given.

The degree of Domestic Science is the highest degree and the course takes one and a half years — the diploma, which gives the holder the right to call herself "household manager," is gained after a sixteen-weeks' course, while there are shorter courses for women who want to learn a branch of domestic work is taught — even to the cooking and serving of food to babies and children.

In practically every German city there are now municipal domestic centres where girls and young women can receive training at very low cost — and in everyone of these centres the care of children is always in the forefront.

Local schoolchildren are brought to these domestic schools and the trainers have to serve and attend them, while mothers lend their babies to the infant clinics for the same purpose of familiarizing the girls with child care and mentality.

BANDITS GOT INN PAYROL

New York, Aug. 14.—Two men wouldn't check their hats because they were "afraid of catching cold," somewhere at liberty to do with the $5,000 payroll of the Claremont Inn.

The men sauntered casually into the restaurant at Riverside Drive and 128th Street last yesterday, bought two rounds of drinks at the bar. Then they went upstairs after leaving word with the bartender they would be found on the porch if a "lady in blue—a Miss Bully" asked for them. Their casual manner changed in the office of the restaurant where they were whisked out guns. One tore a telephone out of the hands of a clerk and the other picked up $5,000. They fled.

Alaska Colonists Harvest First Crop

Matanuska Valley Settlers Cheered by Prospects of Ready Markets and Good Prices; Consider Co-operative Marketing Plan

Associated Press

Palmer, Alaska, Aug. 14.—Prospects of ready markets and satisfactory prices cheered the government's land settlement colonists in the Matanuska Valley today while they made ready to harvest their first crops.

Don R. Irwin, colonization director for the Alaska Rural Rehabilitation Corporation, predicted the modern pioneers would receive prices considerably above those prevailing in midwestern market centers.

He believed, too, that a co-operative marketing and sales organization planned for the development will prevent financial failures suffered by many Alaska homesteaders.

Potatoes in excess of what the colony will need for its own use during the winter will find a quick market at around $2.50 a hundred pounds, compared with quotations ranging from $1.50 to $2 at Chicago, depending on grade, Irwin said.

Fresh vegetables of which there appeared little probability of a surplus this year could be sold for nearly double their price in Seattle. String beans, eagerly accepted by restaurants, brought around 7 cents a pound at Anchorage at the same time they sold for 3 to 4 cents wholesale in Seattle.

While a top price of 30 cents a dozen for eggs prevailed in Seattle today, prices at Anchorage, forty miles from here, varied from a minimum of 50 cents to 65. A dollar a dozen is a common price during the winter—with almost none available. The production of the co-operative poultry farm planned for the settlers will average eighty-five dozens a day, Irwin said.

O. P. Ohlson, general manager of the Alaska Railroad, estimated towns along the system from Fairbanks to Seward offered easy markets for $350,000 of Matanuska produce annually, with additional seasonal demands from mines, fisheries and railroad maintenance crews.

NUDIST SQUIRRELS

Byron, Calif., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Rancher Ed Krumland claims to have California's only colony of nudist squirrels. It wasn't the squirrel's idea. They just happened to be living in a hollow, termite-infested tree.

Krumland poured a chloride of lime solution into the tree to kill the termites—and out walked six naked squirrels.

ANGLO-FRENCH POLICY NEEDED

Hon. R. Brugere Finds Working Example of Link of Two Nations in Canada

An ever-closer understanding, cultural as well as political and commercial, with Great Britain is the obvious policy for France in the opinion of Hon. Raymond Brugere, French minister to Canada, who is at present in Victoria.

In Canada M. Brugere has found an excellent working example of such an understanding.

He admitted that until he came to this country last October, he had had little idea of its nature, nor of the relationship between the French and English-speaking elements in the population.

Since his arrival in Ottawa Mr. Brugere has been delighted with all that he has seen, especially with the growth of the two racial cultures side by side, in harmony, but not dissolving into each other so as to lose their identity.

FRANCE-CANADIAN RELATIONS

Canada's relations with France have been steadily improving during the last year. For France the Jacques Cartier celebrations of last summer were one of the main events of the season, and Canada was brought much more clearly before the eyes of the French people.

Commercially, M. Brugere himself in February signed a trade agreement between the two nations which is already having its effects felt, especially in the luxury and wine and spirit export trade of France.

The present time is a time of readjustment for France, according to M. Brugere. A few years after the Great War, France benefited by the devaluation of its currency. Now it is suffering from the devaluation of the currencies of the nations surrounding it. Its internal policy, at present, is one of economy, of lowered salaries and lowered prices in an attempt to bring it economically better into line with its neighbors.

M. Brugere did not consider it likely that France would desert the gold standard, nor that the fascistic movements which had their origin in dissatisfaction with France's economic situation would have any lasting hold on the country.

Of the relations between the European nations he had little to say, except that they did not look any too bright.

This is M. Brugere's first visit to the Pacific Coast. It is for him largely a pleasure trip, which is serving at the same time to acquaint him better with the widely different characteristics of the various sections of the nation which for some years will be his home, and in which he takes an exceptional interest.

M. Brugere has traveled across Canada, passing through Winnipeg and Edmonton, and stopping off at Jasper Park. On his trip here from Vancouver he has been accompanied by Paul Sutor, French consul in Vancouver, and Mme. Sutor.

Yesterday M. Brugere drove over the Malahat and toured the lower part of the island. This morning he was setting out to Brentwood on his first salmon fishing expedition. M. Brugere will return to Vancouver on the midnight boat to-night.

MAN FREEZER IN DIFFICULTY

Willard Is Willing to Turn Simkhovitch Into "Iceicle" If Responsibility Removed

Associated Press

Hollywood, Aug. 14.—Dr. Ralph Willard, Russian-born chemist, today said, "I would not want to freeze a human being unless I knew I would not be held legally responsible, because of course there is a chance the experiment would not succeed."

Dr. Willard, who claims to have frozen an "revived" numskull quinea pig and a monkey, said he is nevertheless anxious to proceed with freezing Shephie Simkhovitch if "all the legal barriers" can be removed.

Meanwhile Simkhovitch, Hollywood actress whose offer to be frozen, Dr. Willard said, he accepted out of several hundred similar offers, declared he would "do nothing illegal" and if the law declares the proposed experiment in that category, "I will withdraw."

An invitation to move his laboratory to New York, and to conduct his experiment there, was announced by Dr. Willard later today. He said he could not "close the name of his correspondent, until he knew whether or not he would accept the offer."

Dr. Willard said he had no idea of making a motion picture of his work.

QUESTION LEGALITY OF FALCON HUNTING

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Aug. 14.—Doubt as to the legality of falcon hunting in Alberta as announced by Capt. R. L. Meredith for this fall, when he intends to bring his falcons here from Boonoon, N.C., to hunt prairie chickens, exists in the minds of provincial game authorities in Edmonton.

Nothing on the statute books refers to this ancient sport of falconry, but a federal statute covering the three states and would be unethical," he asserted.

prairie provinces states that no hunting shall be done here with the aid of live birds as decoys.

Whether his falcons would come under that category is something Capt. Meredith will have to determine before commencing his proposed hunt.

Nanaimo Takes Game Lead In Western Canada Football Final

THE SPORTS MIRROR

DISMISSAL of Walter Johnson as field manager of the Cleveland Indians in favor of Steve O'Neill is only the latest according to eastern baseball experts. A house cleaning of the Cleveland club is to extend from the front office to the peanut vendors. Present plans of the directors do not call for retention of Billy Evans as general manager following the expiration of his contract on November 1. After twenty-two years of American League umpiring and sports writing Evans became business head of the club when a group of millionaires purchased it in 1927.

It is probable that an executive position will be given Cyril C. Stappnicka, now chief of the scouts, who uncovered Hal Trosky, the young first baseman, and others.

Johnson is to spend the rest of the season inspecting young Indians now with farm clubs. President Alva Bradley and other directors are urging Johnson to remain with the Indians in some capacity. It may be that the Big Train will, and that he either will be in charge of recruiting and signing the personnel or will work with Stappnicka along that line.

The remaining eight weeks of the season will determine the fate as a major league pilot of O'Neill, who caught the Cleveland club to its only pennant in 1920, and handled International League and American Association outfields for five years.

Unless something startling happens within the next eight weeks, several Indians will be on the market. Johnson still has the directors' ears, and made several recommendations in stepping down as field director.

It is known that Johnson believes that the Cleveland catching alone is enough to heat the outfit.

Johnson was rightfully disappointed in pitcher Monte Pearson. Even when put in spots, the rather frail Mel Harder finds it difficult to finish games in hot weather. Johnson does not rate either Willie Hudlin or Oral Hildebrand with top flight American League flingers. Thornton Lee has been a long time developing into a star. The other pitchers are problem children.

It is no secret that Johnson considers Odell Hale an unnatural ball player defensively. The reserve outfielders, Milt Galatzer and Ab Wright generally are rated as minor league players.

Island Club In Convincing Win Over Lethbridge

Accept Records Of Local Girls

Applications for Canadian swimming records for Monica Trump, fifteen-year-old Victoria Amateur Swimming Club star, and for Molly Wallis, Pacific Swimming Club junior, have been accepted by the Dominion authorities as new salt water marks. It was announced today by W. O. Findlay, secretary of the Vancouver Island Swimming League. The records were established in the Crystal Garden on March 9. Monica Trump is credited with a record in the women's 200 yards breast stroke, while Molly Wallis has been given the mark for the junior fifty yards distance.

WINNIPEG SHOT TAKES HONORS

Lieut. G. A. Molecey Captures Rapid-fire Match at D.R.A. Meeting

South March, Ont., Aug. 14.—Eagle-eyed Lieut. G. A. Molecey, Winnipeg, was crowned king of rapid-fire riflemen at the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association annual meet yesterday as he out-shot the best sharpshooters of Canada to win the Harold L. Borden Memorial Match.

In a time limit of forty-five seconds, the Winnipegger planted ten rounds on the target at 300 yards for a score of 47, three short of a possible and two more than his nearest opponent, Lieut.-Col. C. R. Rowe Guelph.

Two competitors, Lieut. Desmond T. Burke, former King's Prize winner, Ottawa, and Col. C. H. Colwell, Halifax, tied for third place with scores of 43, one better than Serg. G. H. Her-ring, Ottawa, and Serg. Dick Storror, Toronto.

Besides winning the money award, Lieut. Molecey received a challenge cup and medal presented by the late Sir F. W. Borden, former Minister of Militia and Defence, as a memorial to his son, Lieut. Harold L. Borden, killed in action in South Africa.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS

Strange as it seems, lacquer dries faster and better in damp air than in dry air. The Japanese put lacquered objects in chambers filled with moist air in order to bring about maximum hardness.

Disaster after disaster has befallen Constantinople, now called Istanbul, since the historic city was founded in 328 A.D. by Constantine the Great. Twenty-six times during its history, the city has been under siege. Many of the attacks were a result of civil wars between rival factions of the empire.

The Avars, Saracens, Bulgarians, forces of the Crusades, and Turks have all taken their turn in storming the city. The first great siege was that of the Avars in the early seventh century. A prolonged attack was made by the Saracens fifty years later, followed by another attack in 718. The Bulgarians attacked Constantinople in 813 and again in 913. The Fourth Crusade swept out of Europe to assault the ancient city in 1203. Two hundred years later the Turks attacked.

Constantinople was shaken by its first disastrous earthquake in 416, less than a century after its founding. It was visited twice again that century. Fifteen other major quakes have followed.

Boston Sox Move Into Third Spot

Tom Yawkey's Boys Whip Chicago White Sox 9 to 5 to Hurdle Windy Club in American League; Yankees Win to Gain on Leading Detroit

The golden boys of Boston have begun to pay dividends on the ambitious investment of Thomas Yawkey.

The Boston Red Sox, fashioned from the deep till of a rich man, have climbed into third place in the American League, and in doing so have shown class that perhaps presages even a higher rating before the race is run.

They tumbled the White Sox from third place and took that niche themselves yesterday, when they beat the staggering boys from Chicago 9 to 5. Boston unleashed a fourteen hit barrage against John Whitehead and Jack Salveson, with Bill Werber belting a homer, Dusty Cooke a pair of triples and a double, and Mel Almada two doubles and a single.

The Sox are six games behind the New York Yankees, who are in second place, and eleven of behind the first place Detroit Tigers.

The Washington Senators took the measure of Detroit yesterday as Earl Whitehill, Washington's veteran southpaw, pulled out with a 4 to 3 decision in ten innings. The Tigers failed all of their runs in the third inning, when Pete Fox hit his twelfth homer of the season with Fies Clifton and Jo Jo White on base.

Charley Ruffing held Cleveland to four hits as the Yankees scored an 8 to 2 victory at Cleveland, but sloppy fielding on the part of the Indians gave their opponents six unearned runs.

Newport, R.I., Aug. 14.—Burlie Enrique Maier, Spain, launched what promises to be a highly successful American campaign yesterday when he got started in the historic Newport Casino tournament at the expense of the seventh seeded player, J. Gilbert Hall, New Jersey.

The hard-driving Spaniard dropped the opening set, 9-7, but smashed away to a pair of 6-1 set victories that moved him into the fourth round against Don Budge, the new U.S. Davis Cup star.

Budge and Maier, along with Sam Les and Roderick Menzel, the heavy-weight Czechoslovakian star, remained in the fourth round as the top-seeded Frank X. Shields, New York, and Hollywood, led an all-star parade into the quarter finals.

PERRY IS NOT TURNING PRO

England's Tennis Star Has Definite Statement on Arrival in U.S.

New York, Aug. 14.—England's Frederick John Perry, No. 1 man among world amateur tennis players, seized the opportunity upon his arrival yesterday to disclaim definitely any lingering idea that he contemplates turning professional.

In contrast with previous visits, marked by motion picture offers as well as inducements to join the professional forces led by Bill Tilden, Perry did not steepest the matter.

"I am definitely not going to turn professional," he said. "It's true that I had some interesting offers but my mind is made up not to consider them further. I will play for England in defence of the Davis Cup in 1936—that is, if I'm selected."

VANCOUVER TO STAGE ROWING

Victoria and Seattle Oarsmen Invited to Compete in September Event

Vancouver, Aug. 14.—Vancouver Rowing Club officials yesterday evening announced plans were nearing completion for their annual regatta next month, expected to bring together some of the crack oarsmen from British Columbia and the University of Washington.

Heading the Vancouver entries will be Monty Butler and Johnny Dickinson, who recently returned from the Canadian Henley, where they captured the junior and senior tacks, weight singles and doubles titles. It will be the champions' first showing since annexing their Dominion crowns.

A challenge race is being mooted between the Vancouver pair and Ran Hill and Max Oakes, Kelowna, crack interior scullers, who swept the boards at Kelowna regatta a week ago. In addition eight-oared crews have been invited from the University of Washington and Victoria. The regatta is scheduled for the middle of September, the exact date to be set within the next few weeks.

HOCKEY STARS TO ENGLAND

Number of Promising Winnipeg Amateurs to Play With Wembley Lions

Winnipeg, Aug. 14.—Hearkening to the lure of inducements from over the seas, a number of promising Winnipeg ice stars have signed contracts to play hockey in England next winter. It was learned yesterday, and will leave here early in September.

The famed French-Canadian duo of the Winnipeg Monarchs, who toured Europe last winter, brothers Tony and Albert Lemay, will perform on the roster of Wembley Lions with Alex Archer, last year with the St. John Beavers, and Sonny Root.

Root, who last played in Canada with the Kenora Thistles, was with the Lions last season. Selkirk fishermen's Johnny Templeton also has received an offer, it was learned, and is considered almost certain to accept.

The hockeyists are scheduled to leave for England September 9. The most successful season in British hockey history is forecast by officials of the British Ice Hockey Association, under whose jurisdiction the Lions function.

The Lemay brothers, according to reliable reports, were being sought by the Paris Canadiens who regularly play English teams in a series of international games. The Lemays, however, finally came to terms with the Wembley officials.

Spencers Capture Extra Inning Tilt

Defeat Hollywood by Odd Run in Twelfth Frame; Kreges Cards Down Live Wires 11 to 10 in Women's Game

A three-run rally in the last half of the twelfth inning, which eclipsed by one tally the fighting last frame stand of their opponents, Hollywood, gave Spencer a sweet 10 to 9 victory in the softball fixture played at Central Park yesterday evening.

The teams had gone through four scoreless innings before the rival bats cracked out for a total of five runs in the twelfth to break up the game, which had been a 7 to 7 tie from the eighth inning onward.

As a result of their victory, Spencers gained the right to play Poole Dog Club, the history of which dates back to the eighteen-sixties, a cricket week to be held in the city, starting next Friday.

All matches will be played at MacDonald Park. R.M.S. Danes will furnish the opposition on Friday and Saturday; Vancouver Juniors will play Monday; Twelfth's team, Cowichan, on Tuesday; North Shore, Vancouver, Thursday, and possibly another Vancouver team on Friday.

If the week proves a success, it may be made an annual event. The committees for the event were announced to-day as follows: Chairman of all committees, E. W. Paterson; transportation and reception, F. Barber-Starkie, F. Jordan and G. Austin; luncheons and teas, Madames H. Lethaby, T. Peers, F. Barber-Starkie, R. A. Wilcox, F. Jordan, C. Jones and H. A. Goward; selection of teams, H. Lethaby and H. A. Goward; grounds, C. Jones, F. Jordan and T. Peers.

BATS CRACK OUT
Hollywood posted a two-run lead in the last frame only to have the departmentals go them one better. Bardge and Humberstone both clouded homers for the losers, while Anderson rapped out a circuit drive for the winners.

Spencers collected seventeen hits, while Hollywood nicked the storemen's pitcher for thirteen. Score by innings:
Hollywood ... 3 0 0 1 0 0 2 0 0 3 — 9
Spencers ... 0 1 1 2 0 0 1 0 0 0 3 — 10
Batteries — Fletcher and Barber; Carr and Knapp.

In another game at Central Park Kreges' Cardinals put up an early lead and held it despite a good final rally by the Live Wires in a women's fixture which ended with the Cards winning 11 to 10. Jane Trotter's homer with one out in the seventh was a feature of the fixture.

The Cardinals scored twice in the first and second innings, added three more runs in the third and one in the fourth before passing through two scoreless frames as their opponents cut down the lead, and then finished with a good rally to stave off the Live Wires' good closing drive.

Score by innings:
Live Wires ... 1 1 0 2 1 2 0 0 3 — 10
Cardinals ... 2 2 3 1 0 0 2 1 — 11
Batteries: Elise Matthews and Peggy Holt; Iva Milliken and Vivian Hannan.

Togo Cleaners, junior softball nine, kept in the running for the league title, by defeating Schmeltz Machineists, 16 to 11. In the other scheduled Junior League fixture, Strawberry Vase won by default from Oak Bay, and Harris's Cycloletes took their game from the Canucks by the same route.

YOUNG GIRL IN FINE VICTORY

Winifred Nolte, Bellingham, in Great Comeback Win in Washington Golf

Bellingham, Aug. 14.—Concentrating on an attack against Seattle players, feminine golfers from other sections of the state held their own yesterday in the first round of the Washington State women's golf tournament.

The opposing squads were each cut in half as nine Seattle and seven "outsiders" survived the eighteen-hole opening round of firing.

The girls from other cities who are determined to take the title away from Seattle were given much encouragement when Mrs. Guy Riegel, Spokane; Mrs. Don Scott and Thelma Osburn, Bremerton, and Mrs. F. Currie, Winifred Nolte, Mrs. E. Wheeler and Mrs. E. Skolm, of Bellingham, marched to victory.

The Seattle survivors are Elizabeth Finn, Mrs. C. F. Lindley, Mrs. G. B. Butterworth, Mrs. A. D. Hansen, Mrs. J. D. Gilmore, Barbara Winn, Mrs. J. R. West, Mrs. J. K. Holloway and Mrs. S. P. Nielsen.

Miss Nolte, a young Bellingham girl, turned in the most amazing victory of the day when she defeated Mrs. W. A. Kirkham, Seattle, 1 up, by winning the last five holes. At the thirteenth she was four down, but with the aid of two stymlies and some mistakes by Mrs. Kirkham, "Winifred" squeaked out her sensational win.

By her 2 and 1 triumph over Mrs. W. M. Shelton, Seattle, Mrs. Riegel the only former state titlist in the meet, became the chief hope of the anti-Seattle clan. The Spokane woman was only seven over par in spite of a near-gale wind.

NAVY TO OPPOSE EAGLES TO-NIGHT

A strengthened Navy nine will endeavor to stage a comeback this evening when they meet the Eagles, undefeated leaders in the Victoria Senior Baseball League, at the Athletic Park at 6 o'clock.

Lorne Murray will do the slab work for the birdmen, with Henry Woodford at the receiving end. Southon or Parker will be on the mound for the Sailors, and Kennedy will do the catching. Leo Holden will be the umpire.

GAMBI HURLS A CHALLENGE

Italian Swimmer Willing to Race Nelson and Young for $1,000 Side Bet

Toronto, Aug. 14. — Gianni Gambi, powerful little Italian swimmer, has offered to race Marvin Nelson, world champion swimmer, and George Young, former Toronto crawler, for a $1,000 side bet.

"I'll deposit $1,000 in any bank they want to name and meet them whenever they are ready, preferably in the Canadian National Exhibition swim."

"The reason I make the challenge is because of every other swimmer entered in the C.N.E. swim. If Nelson is so good that he wants to swim against Young, and if Young is so good that he wants to swim against Nelson, let them settle it."

"Nelson says the exhibition swim does not offer enough. Let him cover my $1,000, or any piece of it he wants, to boost the winner's stake," he challenged. "In other words, put up or shut up. That goes for Young, too. They know where to get me; let them accept or quit talking from now on."

ROMANTIC TALE PICTURE THEME

Jaynet Gaynor and Henry Fonda in "Farmer Takes a Wife"

It is with another time, another era, that the film writers deal when they wrote the script for Fox Film's "The Farmer Takes a Wife," which is now at the Capitol Theatre. A period when a gangling America was growing, when the narrow artery of the Erie Canal bore the golden wealth of the west to the seaports of the east, when twenty-mile-an-hour steam trains had just entered into a duel to the death with four-mile-an-hour canal barges.

Against this background the picture tells the story of two lovers, Janet Gaynor and Henry Fonda, whose lives and fates were bound with the momentous happenings in the world about them.

Fonda owns half-interest in a boat, given him by his profiteer captain who has just won a lottery prize, and Janet Gaynor is doing his cooking. The only rift in their romance is their division in allegiance; he loves the soil, she is a child of the waterways.

Fonda and Charles Bickford meet in battle, and Fonda, to everyone's surprise, administers a sound thrashing to his enemy. And so the picture proceeds in its logical climax as the farmer takes his wife from the turbulent life of the canals to the poetic life of the soil.

Victor Fleming directed the picture which was produced by Winfield Sheehan. Prominently featured in its supporting cast are Slim Summerville, Andy Devine, Roger Imhof, Jane Withers and Kitty Kuhl.

COLUMBIA THEATRE
Although Barbara Stanwyck and Warren William have both been working at the Warner Bros. Studios for two years, they had never met until the two stood up together to be married in a scene for "The Secret Bride," now being shown at the Columbia Theatre.

They were cast together for the first time in the same picture. The very first scene in which they worked shows them being secretly married. Director William Dieterle, unaware that they had never formally met, instructed them to take their places before the Justice of the Peace to go through the ceremony.

"You might introduce me to the man I am going to marry," suggested Miss Stanwyck. "After all, one should know her husband."

"What! You two have been working here all this time and have never met?" exclaimed Dieterle. "Well, Miss Stanwyck let me present your future husband, Mr. Warren William. Mr. suit. But when South bids six spades, he wisely passes."

THE PLAY
West made a very good opening, the sight of his queen. Another heart was holding the South cards, took the trick with the queen. He now led the ace and king of spades, establishing West's queen.

Declarer continued with a small spade which West was forced to win with the queen. Another heart was returned and South won with the king. Two more rounds of trump were taken to see what the discards would be.

The ace of clubs and four of spades also were cashed, leaving declarer with the nine of hearts, the ace and queen of diamonds and the nine of clubs. West was left with the king and jack of clubs and the king and ten of diamonds.

Dummy held the ace and seven of hearts, jack of diamonds and the queen of clubs. East's hand is immaterial.

The nine of hearts was played. West discarding a club and the trick was won in dummy with the ace. The seven of hearts was cashed, declarer discarding the nine of clubs, and West was helpless.

If he discarded a club, dummy's queen would be established, while if he let go the ten of diamonds, declarer would lead the jack of diamonds, overtaking with the ace, and dropping West's king, thereby making his contract.

To Set Buying Value of Ruble

Moscow Must Pierce to the Roots of Economic Structure to Accomplish It

By JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Foreign Staff.
Moscow, Aug. 14.—The Soviet government has set its shoulders to the task of giving its freak ruble a fixed purchasing value. To accomplish this it must make alterations that pierce to the roots of its economic structure, a process which cannot be completed in weeks, or even months. First of all, there must be a work

Washington, Aug. 14. — The United States treasury to-day claimed a victory over "rum row." Making a report for the fiscal year ended last June 30. It said its law enforcement activities have drastically reduced the number of smugglers hovering off the United States coast.

Narrating the activities of its alcohol tax unit, coastguard narcotic agents and other officers, it listed these re-

Paris, Ont., Aug. 14.—John William Garvin, author and editor of The Canadian Poetry and former vice-president and manager of the Federal Finance Corporation Ltd., Toronto, dropped dead on the grounds of the Paris Bowling Club to-day as he joined his team, the Toronto Canada's, to play in the Paris public tournament. He was in his sixty-seventh year.

Mr. Garvin was well known as a poet and man of letters. He was the editor of the collected poems of Isabella Crawford and the Canadian poems of the Great War. He was born in Linden, Ont.

prices on the general market, at present far out of proportion. The government is attacking the problem from both ends, raising incomes on one hand and lowering prices on the other.

Just now the rouble — the paper rouble as differing from the "gold" rouble quoted here at 1.13 to the dollar—is an almost indefinable quantity. It may buy a meal and, then, again, it may not even be an acceptable tip. A box of Soviet-made corn flakes costs two roubles on the open market. Meat may cost five roubles or more a pound. Butter costs 12 roubles a pound and bread three roubles a loaf.

The average factory worker has a salary of 150 roubles a month. That proportion, if he were obliged to buy in the open market, would be the same if a man making $150 a month in North America had to pay $12 a pound for butter and $3 a loaf for bread.

New York Currencies

New York, Aug. 14.—Sterling and the French franc were moderately higher, the Canadian dollar slightly lower, in the foreign exchange markets to-day.

The Canadian dollar was quoted at a discount of 5-32 per cent against 4 cents a day. The pound sterling was up half a cent at $4.95, while the franc, closed at 6.614 cents, showed a gain of .001 of a cent.

BAR CHAMPION

Sedalia, Mo., Aug. 14 (Canadian Press).—Miss Norborne wiggled her ears in pride to-day—all thirty-four inches of them—for they are the longest mule ears on exhibit at the Missouri state fair here.

"She may be national champion in the length of her ears," said J. J. Irvine, superintendent of the mule department.

The Attitude of Modern Man Toward Woman

Declares That Chivalry Still Exists in World

A GREAT many people beat upon their breasts and strew ashes on their heads when they speak of the attitude of modern man toward the modern woman and the lack of chivalry with which he treats her.

"Look at the way men knock women around in a crowd," they cry. "Look at the men who grab the best seats in a car and sit while women stand! Look at the way men puff their pipes in women's faces instead of asking permission to smoke a cigar as they used to. Why, even lovers are not gallant any more. The Romeo of to-day doesn't climb up to his Juliet's balcony. He drives up before her door and honks his horn and she comes out and climbs into the car by herself. He doesn't even lend her a hand!"

To a degree all of this is true. You can't eat your cake and have it, too. When women fought for their rights and got them, they automatically lost their privileges. When they showed they could stand on their own feet, men

It is intrinsically impossible to be a sturdy oak and a clinging vine at the same time, and when women entered into active competition with men in business and took their jobs away from many of them, they could no longer be regarded as helpless little pets that had to be cherished. They became equals and rivals. And that was the end of the old-fashioned chivalry.

Men had to devise a new technique for their dealings with women. The etiquette of the drawing-room could not prevail in the workshop. It would be absurd for an employer to hop to his feet and bow and kiss the hand of his stenographer every time she came into the office, or for male clerks to spend their time picking up the handkerchiefs of the sales-ladies.

Because, however, these gallantries have been abolished, it is as absurd to say that chivalry is dead as it would be to declare that men are no longer brave because they do not put on a suit of armor and go forth seeking adventure. The truth is that never in whole history of the world were men so truly chivalrous toward women as they are to-day. Never were women so well treated by men, as you will recognize if you will consider the condition of women in those much-talked-of days of chivalry.

Then a woman was a slave, a prisoner, a toy for men's convenience and amusement, and a man who treated one even halfway decently was considered so remarkable that minstrels went around the country singing his praises. Even in our grandmother's time men displayed their gallantry by supporting a lady on their arms when she took a walk abroad; they picked up her hat when she dropped it and doubtless would have given her their seats in the subway if there had been any subways, but they didn't give her any rights. If she was an heiress and never married, her property was all turned over to her husband to spend on other women if he chose. If she had a fine mind and desired an education, every college door was barred to her. If she was poor, she had to eat the bitter bread of dependence because men were monopolizing all of the gainful occupations.

She got barrels of flowery speeches and compliments and silly empty little observances, but that was all she did get. The gallantry of the past was an ornate soufflé, a mouthful of sweet nothings, but the gallantry of to-day is the bread of life, strong and nourishing, in which the modern woman sets her teeth.

The men of to-day may let a woman stand in a street car, but they give her a chance to make an honest living. They may not lift their hats to her in an elevator, but they pass laws that protect her in her right to her own property. The knight of to-day does not dress in riding armor and go on fool quests to rescue a distressed damsel, but he opens his store and office doors to hundreds of poor young women and saves them from the porchouse and the street.

In the days of chivalry no woman dared put her nose outside of her own door without a husky guard to take care of her. To-day a woman alone can travel from one end of the world to the other and every man she meets becomes her protector. And that is a piece of chivalry so great and beautiful that it was beyond the dreams of King Arthur and his round table.

So in view of these facts it is idiotic to speak of the decay of men's gallantry. It has simply changed to meet a new demand. Men are perfectly willing to pick up their own handkerchiefs with one hand as long as they can pick up a pay envelope with the other.

Uncle Wiggly's Play House

By HOWARD B. GARIS

Uncle Wiggly was hoping through the woods near Green Lake where he was living in his summer vacation cottage. "I may find an adventure," said the rabbit gentleman to himself. "Or I may find something else. Whatever it is, it will be welcome."

Soon after that he found something else. It was a large hollow tree in a clearing near the Orange Ice Mountains where he lived in winter. "Oh, ho!" said Uncle Wiggly to himself, "as he says the hollow tree, this will make me a fine play house. I'll go in it." So he did.

Now it might seem strange for an old rabbit gentleman to want a play house. But those of you who know Uncle Wiggly know that though he was old in some ways he was young in other ways. He always wanted to have fun and pretend and play like the animal boys and girls among whom he lived.

"I'll pretend I'm a young rabbit again," said Uncle Wiggly, twinkling his pink nose when he was inside the hollow tree. "I'll have some fun in this play house as I used to have when I was a boy. My wife and Nurse Jane say here to stop me."

The hollow tree was large enough for a rabbit gentleman's play house. Uncle Wiggly could stand up straight in it, which is more than you can do in some children's play houses I have seen. There also was room for him to turn around and sit down.

"But I'll need something to sit on," said Mr. Longears. Growing outside the hollow tree were a number of large toadstools. As no toads were using the toadstools at the time, Uncle Wiggly picked three.

"I may have company come to see me in my play house," said Uncle Wiggly as he sat on one toadstool and placed the two others near him for company. After a little while Uncle Wiggly looked out of the door of his hollow tree play house and said:

"Why, hello, Twinstail! I'm glad to see you! Come in! There is plenty of room even for a fat pig gentleman like yourself. The bunny uncle pushed forward the largest and thickest of the toadstools. "And if there isn't my old friend Mr. Stubb-tail, the bear went on Mr. Longears. "Come in, Stubby!" He pushed forward the other company toadstool.

Then all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggly looked out and said:

"Why, hello, Twinstail! I'm glad to see you! Come in! There is plenty of room even for a fat pig gentleman like yourself. The bunny uncle pushed forward the largest and thickest of the toadstools. "And if there isn't my old friend Mr. Stubb-tail, the bear went on Mr. Longears. "Come in, Stubby!" He pushed forward the other company toadstool.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel." THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1935. Mingled good and evil are seen in the horoscope for to-day, according to astrology. While there is an aspect affecting the judiciously, there is also an aspect affecting the impulsive.

There should be a great interest in aviation that is at its height in history, for in the autumn attention is to focus upon many landing fields on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts.

Travel by airplane is to show a tremendous increase and there will be much touring through the early weeks of autumn. Warning is given that there will be a period of activity among southerners of every class who seek gain through the credibility of the people.

Industry to-day is under an adverse aspect that seems to indicate uncertainty and timidity on the part of employers. Manufacturers are to profit later in the month, it is forecast.

This should be a favorable day for making plans. Constructive ideas are likely to be prevalent. The fruit favors expansion among merchants and preparations for a busy winter.

Women are well directed in housekeeping matters. It is a lucky day for disposing of superfluous accumulations and preparing for fall activities. Again it is foretold that unusual fashions will prevail in the winter, when clothing will rise in price and when the fashion of the year will be of hard work and achievement. Many dreams will come true through persistent effort.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly intelligent and industrious. Subjects of this sign usually succeed through their own efforts. Baron Isidore, a Taylor, artist and author, was born on this day, 1789. Others who have celebrated birthdays include Walter Crane, English painter, 1843; Walter Hines Page, editor and diplomat, 1868; and Louis Adamic, diplomat, 1897. PRESENTED TO KING. Portsmouth, Eng., Aug. 14.—Six skippers of the fishing fleet were presented to the King while he was here for the great naval review recently. For each of them the King had a few words and a firm handshake.
